WASHINGTON, April 24.—By an overwhelming vote the Senate passed the soldier bonus bill providing paid-up insurance for service men, turned down the cash option feature proposed by Senator Copeland (Dem.) of New York, and amended the bill in such a way as to make it possible for Congress to renew consideration of it after March 4 next.

The bill, as amended, passed yesterday by a vote of 67 to 17, a majority more than the constitutional two-thirds—64 votes—necessary to override a presidential veto. The cash option provision, originally projected as a political gesture, was nearly adopted. It was defeated by a vote of 37 to 48. Its adoption, in the opinion of most experts, would have insured final defeat of the bill by presidential veto.

The bill passed in the Senate is almost identical with that passed by the House, except for minor amendments that can be quickly ironed out in conference.

With the verdict of Congress finally rendered on a question at issue for several years, interest in the measure now rests with the White House. The President has said he is opposed to a bonus. Bonus supporters hope that if he vetoes the bill it can be passed over his veto.

However, the President has not announced his position relative to the insurance bonus bill, nor is the belief that a veto can be overridden justified by the attitude of Senators toward the bill yesterday. Although the bill received three votes more than two-thirds, this is a narrow margin, and the bonus bill may figure once more in the Senate in a dramatic fight for its life should the President veto it.

Few Preside Bill.
Probably never before in the history of Congress was a bill passed so few people seemed to want. It was debated by many who finally voted for it and received few encomiums from its friends.

The arguments against it ran all the way from deception of the taxpayer, a "gold-brick" for the soldier, a cowardly abandonment of principle and sanity, to an economic offense against the country. Seemingly wanted by no one, it was handled as a political measure which few had the courage to regard frankly on the eve of a general election.

Five potential Democratic candidates for the presidency met the issue. Carter Glass of Virginia declared himself openly against the bonus, because he regarded it as an affront to the soldier and because the finances of the country would not stand the added expense.

Senator Underwood of Alabama, expressing opposition to the bonus as a proposition, voted for the cash option as a more honest and more courageous form of legislation. He voted against the bill as adopted.

Senator Harkin of Indiana expressed himself briefly as favorable to the insurance, because voting for the cash option might endanger the bill as a whole.

Senator Copeland of New York led the fight for the cash option, despite the attitude of American Legion officials, and after describing the insurance as a "tombsone measure," he voted for it.

Still another possible presidential candidate, Senator Robinson (Dem.) of Arkansas, voted against the cash option for reasons similar to those expressed by Harkin.

Former service men filled the visitors' gallery and watched the Senate yield apparently against its

WALSH QUESTIONS IMPARTIALITY OF EXPERT WITNESS

Oil Investigator Asks Petroleum Engineer Whether He Has Not Been "Guilty of Deception."

BY CHARLES G. ROSS, Chief Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, April 24.—Senator Spencer's star oil witness, James O. Lewis, the expert, who yesterday defended the leasing of Teapot Dome, was subjected to a series of savage cross-examinations by Senator Walsh when the Oil Committee resumed its hearings today. Lewis was one of two geologists employed by the committee in February, 1923, to make an examination of Teapot Dome.

From the record Walsh read a letter written by Lewis on Aug. 1, 1922, to A. W. Ambrose of the Bureau of Mines, in which Lewis recommended "the good sense of the navy" in making the Teapot Dome lease so as to obtain an oil reserve above ground.

Walsh pointed out that the committee at the time of Lewis' employment had no idea of this recommendation of his and was "dumb-founded" to learn that Lewis had written a letter recommending the whole leasing policy of Fall and Denby. Walsh said he was expressing the sentiment of the entire committee.

"Senators Snoot and Lenoir," said Walsh, "were as sedulous as myself in seeking impartial experts."

Charge of "Deception." Opening the cross-examination, Walsh flatly charged the witness with having practiced "deception" on the committee in not having informed it of his letter to Ambrose. Lewis denied the accusation. He declared that under Walsh' definition of "impartiality" it would have been impossible to obtain qualified experts as the subject of the oil reserve had been under discussion among oil men for years.

"Well," said Walsh, "the La Follette resolution had been passed and the charge that the Teapot Dome lease was tainted with corruption had been made at the time you wrote that letter."

Lewis said that he did not tell the committee about the letter because it had passed out of his mind. He did not consider that it reflected in any way on his impartiality as a consulting engineer.

Re-examined by Spencer, Lewis said that in the main his report, though written independently, reported the "fact" running across the other committee expert, Frederick G. Clapp.

Walsh took issue with this statement, declaring that Clapp had reported that the "fact" running across the Teapot Dome reserve constituted an absolute barrier against the passage of oil.

Lewis replied that Clapp had been positive on this point. The matter was not further pursued by Walsh, who indicated by his manner that he held the witness' view in low esteem.

JOHN A. TALTY FOUND DEAD IN BED AT HOTEL TAKES HUSBAND SHE SHOT TO HOSPITAL

Former Judge and Mayorality Candidate Was Afflicted With High Blood Pressure. Mrs. Mae Snawder, Now in Cell, Regrets Her Act After Drinking Home Brew.

Former Circuit Judge John A. Talty yesterday represented a client suing the United Railways for personal injury in Circuit Judge Grimm's court, and this morning was to finish presenting his case by calling to the stand Dr. R. A. Walker, the former judge's physician and friend of many years.

When court opened at 10 a. m. former Judge Talty was absent. After waiting some time for him, Judge Grimm remarked he believed something must be wrong, and continued the case until this afternoon. Dr. Walker, who was in court, then started for the Washington Hotel, where Talty made his home. He arrived five minutes after the hotel manager had found Talty dead in bed.

Apoplexy Cause of Death. Dr. Walker said his friend, who had told him the night before that he was not feeling well, had been dead about two hours. Apoplexy caused death, he said, adding that he had treated Talty for high blood pressure for more than a year.

P. P. Priester, manager of the hotel, found the body upon forcing the door after repeated knocking failed to bring a response, following efforts of United Railways lawyers to get in touch with Talty.

Talty, who was 63 years old, was born in Moline, Ill., and came to Missouri in 1880. He became prominent in Republican circles and was elected a Circuit Judge in 1896. After serving his term he ran as a stately old-fashioned carriage, arrayed in Prince Albert coat, high hat, boutonniere, and spats.

Judge Talty is survived by his wife, who is at present not in the city, and a brother, residing at Moline.

manance to this story, the Rumanian informant declared the Princess Ileana recently had her fortune told by a famous quack of Rumania's "Taigane" tribe. This is what the gypsy queen is reported to have prophesied:

"You will wed with a fair Prince whose kingdom shall be over all seas and in all lands. You will wed for love, and love will be your word and shield. The crown which will set upon your head will be heavy but very bright, and love will ease your brow of its weight."

PAVING SELECTION GUESSWORK, SAYS RESEARCH BUREAU

"Mind Your Business" Points Out the Lack of Accurate Records on Maintenance Costs.

Selection of paving material, with especial reference to the Wilite-Trinidad controversy, is discussed by the Bureau of Municipal Research in this week's issue of its organ, "Mind Your Business." The bureau takes the ground that, because of the absence of maintenance cost records, the city officials do not know which type of street is the most economical and efficient.

The present street maintenance cost records are worthless, the bureau says. They do not show the true cost of maintaining any street or any type of pavement.

"Plans for the present fiscal year contemplate the construction of approximately the following amount of new pavement: Trinidad asphalt 134,000 square yards, Wilite 132,000 square yards, Bitulith 130,000 square yards, and other types of pavement $9,000 square yards."

Patented Types. "Two of these pavements, the Wilite and the Bitulith, are patented types.

"How does the Board of Public Service ascertain if one type of pavement is worth more to taxpayers than another; and if worth more, how much more in first cost?"

"How does it determine when the most expensive type of pavement is justified by resulting low maintenance costs and long life?"

"How does it determine, for example, if resurfacing and seal coating a macadam street at nominal cost will or will not meet traffic requirements as satisfactorily as some other type of pavement?"

"These questions cannot be answered by a superficial examination of pavements in other municipalities or from manufacturers' statements and hearsay. They can only be answered by accurate maintenance cost records and knowledge of traffic conditions."

Precise Records Suggested. "Reasonable experimentation with new types of pavement is to be commended; there is no justification, however, for the use of any new type on a large scale, until it has proved its efficiency under conditions similar to those to which it will be subjected."

"Considerable doubt exists as to whether Wilite is a better pavement than Trinidad asphalt. Assertions have been made that Trinidad is laid more cheaply than Wilite."

"If reliable records were maintained by the Department of Streets and Sewers, the board could select for new work the type of pavement which had proved to be the most economical under the same conditions."

"We again suggest that precise records be kept and maintained by the city. Decisions can then be based on facts. Under the present system of records the board can only guess."

M. U. 'FOUNDERS' DAY' BANQUET Alumni to Observe University's 85th Anniversary Tomorrow.

The St. Louis Alumni Association of the University of Missouri will observe the eighty-fifth anniversary of the institution with a "Founders' day" banquet at the Dorr & Zeller tearoom, 401 De Baliviere avenue, tomorrow evening. Principal speakers will be Dean Pat McBaine of the law school and Dean E. J. McCarroll of the school of engineering.

Lawyer and engineering alumni from the school are engaging in an attendance contest. Tom Raley, '07, composer of several Missouri songs, has written a song for the lawyers. The dinner will be served at 6:30, with dancing from 9 o'clock to midnight. Reservations are being made through Ernest Staude, 501 Equitable Building.

M'ADOO ATTACKS WALL STREET By the Associated Press. SACRAMENTO, Cal., April 24.—William G. McAdoo, speaking in the interest of his candidacy for the presidency last night, asserted Wall Street wanted to retain control of the Government because it desired to use the funds of the Federal Treasury.

The bankers, he said, would rather control the Treasury than any other division of the Government. The National City Bank of New York, he declared, had a clerk in the comptroller's office in Washington copying off confidential information when he took over the Treasury portfolio.

"I was amazed by what I found there when I took over the department and one of the first things I did was to throw the clerk out," he said.

throw the revolver away, but I knew it wasn't any use. The police would know I had shot him." At city hospital today Snawder said he was sorry he had mistreated his wife. "I guess I deserved to be shot," he remarked. He was employed as a driver for the Red Top Taxi Cab Co.

HUGHES SENDS DIPLOMATIC NOTES ON OIL TO SENATE

Correspondence Deals With Efforts to Obtain Equal Rights for Americans in Foreign Development.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, April 24.—In reply to a Senate resolution, President Coolidge yesterday submitted to that body copies of State Department correspondence since March, 1921, with various foreign Governments on the subject of oil concessions.

The covering letter of Secretary Hughes said the correspondence had been held since the date mentioned with Mexico, Russia, Czechoslovakia, Argentina, Costa Rica or Venezuela. The report dealt with Persia, Netherlands and Great Britain and mandated territories.

In the case of Persia Secretary Hughes said certain portions of notes were withheld on request of that Government. He added, however, that the correspondence would be furnished in confidence if desired to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

In the main, the correspondence dealt with efforts to obtain equal participation in development of petroleum reserves. That with Great Britain began with a note from Ambassador Geddes calling attention to a report made by Albin E. Hall, then Secretary of the United States.

The Netherlands correspondence emphasized the desire of the United States to obtain equal rights for American capital in colonial development. On May 18, 1921, he reminded the Dutch Foreign Office that the Sinclair Consolidated Oil Co., a leading American company, had filed formal applications for participation in the Djambi field, but had received a negative reply.

STATE ROYAL ARCH MASONS END COLUMBIA CONVENTION Grand Chapter and Grand Council Vote to Withdraw From Temple Association.

By the Associated Press. COLUMBIA, Mo., April 24.—The Grand Chapter of Royal Arch Masons of Missouri adjourned yesterday afternoon after voting to hold the next annual session at Excelsior Springs. All line officers were advanced. Willis A. McCullah of Marionville succeeding Dr. John Pickard of Columbia as grand high priest.

Yesterday the Grand Chapter voted to withdraw from the St. Louis Masonic Temple Association because the new temple under construction at Lindell boulevard and east of Spring avenue, is now estimated to cost $4,700,000, while original estimates were $1,000,000. The Grand Council of Royal Arch Select Masters also withdrew from the association Tuesday.

Officers of the association here, seeking to prevent withdrawals, said the action would not affect building of the temple, as both organizations will redeem their pledges. Virtually all funds necessary for the building have been pledged, they said.

The point farthest north from which a report was received was Blackwell, Ok., where a balloon flying eastward was sighted at 10:40 a. m.

The army wireless station here was awaiting word from the pilots and a watch was being kept for the return of carrier pigeons.

Honeywell Afraid of Pigeons. It was learned today that Capt. H. E. Honeywell, the veteran pilot yesterday had refused to take a basket of pigeons with him because of a superstition that pigeons bring bad luck.

Honeywell's balloon is the only one equipped with a radio broadcasting set. The other balloons are carrying receiving sets only, making their identification impossible. One unidentified bag was reported nearly dragging the ground near Denison, Tex., early this morning and was thought to be experiencing difficulty.

parment, $20,000 for meters, and $8000 for barges and equipment. The total budget for this year is $2,426,789 more than that of last year, which came to $2,759,045.

The increase, about $1,000,000, represents an increase in the pay of city employees and increase of the police force. The increases in pay of city employees amount to $600,000 and increased police costs to $400,000. The city is required by State law to appropriate whatever the Police Board may demand.

No statement of municipal revenue was given out with today's budget figures. When the comptroller's office announced the budget for municipal purposes only was given out a few days ago, the total available revenue for these purposes was estimated at $18,216,800. This is about $657,000 less than the final figure of appropriations for municipal purposes given out today.

The fiscal officials of the city court on reversions of unexpended appropriations, which sometimes run as high as 10 per cent of the appropriations, and on other receipts not included in the estimate, to bring the city out even. The past year's unexpended appropriations seemed to indicate a deficit of several hundred thousand, the city came out $145,000 ahead.

Meetings of the Board of Aldermen are to be held tomorrow and Tuesday with a view to passing the budget measure this week. The Aldermen are expected to receive the measure favorably, both because the increases in pay of city employees have been granted and because the threatened increase in the city tax rate has been avoided.

With the municipal election has been a year away, both the Aldermen and the city officials were particularly anxious to avoid increasing the tax rate. While the total tax rate will be 4 cents higher, the city administration will point to the Board of Education as responsible for the increase. The Board of Education is predominantly Republican, but is not directly representative of the city hall.

ARMY BAG WRECKED IN BALLOON RACE

No. 3 Damaged in Landing in Oklahoma—Six of 7 Entries Still Up.

By the Associated Press. DALLAS, Tex., April 24.—Ballon X-5, Army No. 5, in the national balloon race, was wrecked in landing at Wapanucka, Ok., at 10:25 a. m. Lieut. Ashley C. McKinley, the pilot, announced in a message to the Associated Press.

Lieut. McKinley's message read: "Landed here 10:25 a. m. Balloon wrecked. No one hurt. Balloon X-5, Army No. 5."

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., April 24.—The leader in the national elimination balloon race, which started here late yesterday, is across the Kansas State line, traveling at about 45 miles an hour toward Kansas City, according to latest reports received here. The unidentified balloonist passed over Enid, Ok., at 9:35 and was sighted at 10:30 between Ponca City and Blackwell, headed northeast.

He crossed the State line shortly before 11 o'clock. He is about 650 miles from San Antonio.

A high wind is blowing from the south in the coeurs of the balloons. J. H. Jarboe, meteorologist, estimated its velocity at from 30 to 35 miles per hour up to 5000 feet, and 75 to 100 miles per hour above that.

A deep low-pressure area was located over North Dakota and spreading over the West on this morning's weather map. The balloons are on the east side of this low pressure and indications are that they will continue northward.

The weather map is not encouraging for them to get to the East, where they desired to go.

Likely to Halt at Border. What the pilots will do if they reach the Canadian border is a matter of speculation. Balloon enthusiasts here expressed the belief that some of them might not continue on the course if they saw themselves headed for the uninhabitable wastes of the north.

In this connection the difficulty of the navy balloonists two years ago was recalled, when two men were lost fourteen days in the Canadian wilderness and almost starved to death.

Capt. Honeywell revealed yesterday that he slept in his balloon without fear of coming to the ground unexpectedly.

"You see, I am a fisherman," he said, "so when I get ready to take a nap I just tie a fishing line about 300 yards long onto my toe or my finger, and if I don't come home, a nibble. I throw some ballast over. I have a plumb tied on the end and if the balloon comes down to the ground, it catches on something and I get a bite."

Six of seven balloons entered in the race were still up at noon today and flying northeastward, according to aviation reports here. Dispatches indicated that the huge bags were hovering over Oklahoma and Texas territory.

Most of the reports said the balloons were in a high, making their identification impossible. One unidentified bag was reported nearly dragging the ground near Denison, Tex., early this morning and was thought to be experiencing difficulty.

The point farthest north from which a report was received was Blackwell, Ok., where a balloon flying eastward was sighted at 10:40 a. m.

The increases in pay of city employees amount to $600,000 and increased police costs to $400,000. The city is required by State law to appropriate whatever the Police Board may demand.

No statement of municipal revenue was given out with today's budget figures. When the comptroller's office announced the budget for municipal purposes only was given out a few days ago, the total available revenue for these purposes was estimated at $18,216,800. This is about $657,000 less than the final figure of appropriations for municipal purposes given out today.

The fiscal officials of the city court on reversions of unexpended appropriations, which sometimes run as high as 10 per cent of the appropriations, and on other receipts not included in the estimate, to bring the city out even. The past year's unexpended appropriations seemed to indicate a deficit of several hundred thousand, the city came out $145,000 ahead.

PRESIDENT PAYS TRIBUTE TO CHEMISTS

Coolidge Tells Delegation at White House They Are Performing Service.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, April 24.—President Coolidge, speaking at the White House today to members of the American Chemical Society, declared the Government fittingly "should acknowledge the debt that is due to the scientists and chemists who are devoting their lives to the search for truth."

"You are the profession of opportunity," the President told the chemists, whom he greeted from the south portico of the White House. "Many problems are still unsolved by the future can be gauged by the measure of progress in the past, your contributions to the health, wealth, and happiness of the world will be of surpassing value to the American people."

"Our material progress depends upon the acquisition of knowledge and upon the wise and beneficial use of knowledge depends upon permanent progress in science."

"Modern life has become extremely complex. We are enjoying comforts and advantages undreamed of a generation ago. These have become possible to a large measure through the knowledge and work of the chemical profession. Industry is learning to apply the knowledge of the chemist in its processes. Each step by which the products of the soil, the forest and the air, are converted into commodities of every day life requires the expert assistance of the chemist and the chemical engineer."

Whenever nature's bounty is in danger of exhaustion, the chemist has sought for a substitute. The conquest of disease has made great progress as a result of your efforts. However we look the work of the chemist has raised the level of our civilization and has increased the productive capacity of the nation. Waste materials, formerly cast aside, are now being utilized.

Proven Fact of No. One. "The American chemist has proved himself second to none in scientific knowledge under practical application. The World War brought vividly to our attention that our industrial chemistry had lagged behind that of Europe, but we are pleased to believe that this is no longer true. There are those who believe that Americans have not the patience to undertake the research work essential to develop new ideas in the chemical world, but the results emanating from American laboratories disprove this."

the communicating medium between free balloons and the earth. Honeywell First to Get Away. All the balloons got away easily, rising in the gentle breeze that swept Kelly Field, the starting point, from the South.

The pilot balloon rose in the air at 4:30 p. m. The pilot headed off slightly west or north, but the air heading indicated it would strike cross currents over Oklahoma or Missouri and that it would then drift northeastward across the Mississippi River. The pilot balloon remained in the air long enough to indicate the direction of the current.

Honeywell, piloting the Kansas City Co-operative Club entry, was the first contestant to get away. His bag rose at 5:15 o'clock. It is Honeywell's 50th flight.

At five-minute intervals the other contestants took to the air. The great yellow bag of Capt. Honeywell went slowly up, the pilot dropping off sand ballast as it rose, while the thousands of spectators cheered the veteran skipper of the air, whose gas ship looked like a great pale orange as it reached upward.

Just before the Honeywell balloon rose, the throng was startled by what appeared to be a man falling to his death from a parachute which failed to open. Later it was learned that the parachute contained only a dummy.

Kisses Farewells for Pilots. The last farewell for the pilots were kisses from the young women who were sponsors for the airships. As Pilot B. H. Fournier, in his ship representing San Antonio, rose just after Honeywell, a great cheer went up from the thousands of San Antonians present.

Ten minutes after the first two ships went above, San Antonio was close on the "heels" of Kansas City.

The first army pilot to get away was Maj. Norman W. Peek. He had some difficulty, being delayed about five minutes.

The other pilots arose in the following order: Fourth—Lieut. Ashley C. McKinley, representing the Army; fifth, Capt. Edmund W. Hill, army; sixth, T. Van Orman, in the Goodyear III; seventh, Herbert von Thaden, in the Detroit, representing the Detroit Aviation Society.

Most of the balloons carried pigeons to be used for communication in case of emergency. The pilots

IT'S A 'HORSE' ON THE INSURANCE COMPANY

Owner of Animal That Wore No Tail Lights Gets $1200 in Suit.

Just when opposing lawyers were ready and eager to have a jury decide for once and for all time the right of a horse to keep its tail unlighted, an insurance company called quits today and the case of Miller vs. Meyer was settled out of court.

But although the suit was settled by payment of $1200 to the plaintiff, Joseph Gilman Miller of 22 Portland place, the momentous question involved still stirs the minds of contesting lawyers. Ever Miller's attorney indicated he represented the surrender of the insurance company. Here was a case that ought to have been written in "Decisions—Missouri, 1924." Here was a case that involved every principle of constitutional government, natural science, political economy and the arts. At least defendant's counsel, Everett Griffin, thought so.

Need a Horse Wear a Light? Should a horse be made to wear a tail-light? Should its rider be obliged to carry lighting equipment? If he doesn't, and gets bumped by an automobile has he any right to claim damages? Miller hadn't carried lights and had been bumped by Henry F. Meyer's car on Kingshighway in the dark, early morning of Jan. 24, 1923.

Miller promptly brought suit for $10,000 damages, alleging Meyer was negligent. Meyer's attorney, Everett Hulverson, soon filed a reply, quoting an ordinance to the effect that all vehicles must display lights between sunset and sunrise. A horse was a vehicle, wasn't it?

"No!" shouted Miller's counsel in effect, when he replied. The document was lengthy, as Attorney Griffin showed broad appreciation of the issues involved. This suit meant more than freedom for Miller's horse, he said. It meant freedom for all horses. It meant the pronouncement of an equine Magna Charta.

Griffin sighed when he was questioned today. Yes, that insurance company which carried the accident policy on Meyer's automobile, had decided to settle. They wanted to settle for a lot less before they filed an answer," he said. "After I filed that answer they raised their offer."

It was a good one, that answer. It delved into chemistry, mechanics and electricity and hurled defiance at Meyer's counsel. It discussed threats to the Constitution, and the Bill of Rights. It lingered over horses of history—Paul Jones's horse—Sheridan's horse—the Trojan horse, none of which had ever carried tail lights.

Griffin said, that insurance company, he said, said Attorney Hulverson, sighing also, "I wanted to try the case. I'd have won it all right."

The thing that struck both attorneys was that the horses, poor dumb beasts, will never realize how near they came to being tagged with lights," said Meyer's counsel.

"How near they were to their owners, to personal liberty," snapped Miller's lawyer.

are to send back messages to the San Antonio Aeronautic Association and also to the Associated Press.

Some of the pilots are equipped for long flights, having plenty of food, water, coffee and warm clothing. It is the general opinion that they will be able to reach Canada because of the unusually favorable conditions.

Believe Balloon From Scott Field. A balloon sighted near Manitowish, Wis., at 6 o'clock this morning probably is the 8-4 from Scott Field, according to Commandant John A. Paegelew. The 8-4, a Government balloon in which Dr. C. Leroy Meisinger of the United States Weather Bureau is making observation trips, left the field yesterday afternoon.

ST. LOUIS GIRLS
FIND EASY WAY TO WAVE HAIR

Use New Liquid Which Gives Straight Hair a Beautiful 7-Day Curl.

Many St. Louis girls now know that to have beautiful wavy hair is one of the easiest things in the world. All they need do is apply to their hair a few drops of a wonderful liquid—a liquid which makes even the stiffest hair fall in soft, silky curls and charmingly natural waves.

Just one application of this liquid will give the hair a beautiful, permanent wave effect, keeping it wavy and in curl from 7 to 10 days—often longer. Thus, when a girl uses this liquid she can forget all about her hair for more than a week. No need to bother curling it every night or every other night.

This liquid is called Domine Curlette and those who have used it say that it is simply wonderful. Use the good old-fashioned bit or silk curlette, but before doing so, just moisten the hair with a few drops of Domine Curlette. Not only you, but your friends will be amazed at the wonderful improvement in your appearance.

WIN IN $70,000 SUIT

Jury Rules in Favor of Father and Others in Alleged Forgery Case.

The father, mother-in-law and divorced wife of George Begley Jr., Southeast Missouri "Rice King," won the suit brought against them in Butler County by the Mississippi Valley Trust Co. of St. Louis, to collect $70,000 on a note given by them, following the discovery of the forgeries committed by Begley, for which he is now serving a 10-year term in the penitentiary at Jefferson City.

A jury at Poplar Bluff yesterday decided the suit in favor of the defendants. At a previous hearing of the case in St. Louis in October, 1935, Judge Falkenhauer gave a verdict in favor of the trust company for $69,761. The defendants appealed to the Supreme Court, which decided that the case must be tried in Butler County.

The defendants, George Begley Sr., Mrs. Edith Ruth Begley and her mother, Mrs. Effie M. Ruth, have pleaded in their defense that they were induced to sign the note by means of threats, to the effect that otherwise the trust company would file suits which would expose the forgeries committed by Begley, and which would thus result in "humiliation and disgrace" to them. Inasmuch as the exposure came anyway, they have been unwilling to pay the note.

Counsel for the trust company denied that any coercion was exercised upon the signers of the note by anyone representing the trust company. If anyone exercised coercion on them, the bank's counsel alleged, it was young Begley. The trust company officials, it was pleaded, did not know that notes given by the younger Begley were forged, until members of the family so informed them.

A. H. Roudsbush, who represented the trust company in the suit at Poplar Bluff, said after his return to St. Louis today that the company would appeal to the Supreme Court.

VIOLENT EARTHQUAKES IN HAWAIIAN ISLANDS

Volcanic Rumbles Spread Terror as Fissures Appear and Ground Grows Warm.

By the Associated Press.
HILLO, Hawaii, April 24.—Earthquakes of severity and length are continuing in the Puna district.
The tracks of the Hawaii Consolidated Railway at Kapoho were tossed about like waves, and the service had to be suspended.
H. H. Finch, assistant volcanologist at the observatory, reports progressive cracking along the rift line eastward from Kilauea volcano and the possibility of a flow of lava either at Puna or in the ocean off Puna. The report continues that a Kapoho, where the residents spent four days of terror, the windows and doors rattled continually.
The ground is warm in hollow places. The quakes are circular in motion and have opened up great cracks across the roads.
Some of these cracks are 10 feet deep, extending toward the sea.
One fissure extends for a quarter of a mile into the jungle.
Although the Japanese and Phi-lipinos are leaving the district, Hawaiian and white residents have up to the present evinced no disposition to quit their homes. All telephone lines are down and the only communication is via the railroad.

Severe Earthquake Recorded at San Salvador; Volcano Active.
By the Associated Press.
SAN SALVADOR, April 24.—A violent earthquake was recorded at the observatory here yesterday.
The center of the disturbance is estimated to have been 1300 kilometers distant, in Mexico or Costa Rica. The volcano Las Grandillas, in the Department of Santa Ana, is active.

POSSE USES MACHINE GUN
Dynamite Also Aids in Capture of Alleged Texas Slayer.
By the Associated Press.
AMARILLO, Tex., April 24.—A machine gun, dynamite and determined charge on his hiding place by a posse resulted in the capture of William Ward, 27 years old, a ranch hand, near Brownfield, Tex., yesterday. Ward is alleged to have shot and killed S. B. Windham, a well-known rancher of Terry County, Monday, and escaped to the prairies. He returned yesterday and shot another rancher, after which he took refuge in a boiler house. This was riddled by bullets from a machine gun and Ward jumped into a dipping vat. Dynamite was used to drive him from this and he fled to a hog house.
In the fighting one or two members of the posse were wounded.

SPEAKERS DISCUSS NEEDS OF ST. LOUIS

W. Frank Carter and William
T. Findly Give Private Views on Many Issues.

"What's wrong with St. Louis," or rather, "What St. Louis Needs," was the theme assigned to two speakers at the joint luncheon of the Chamber of Commerce and Federated Women's Clubs yesterday. W. Frank Carter, chairman of the Bond Issue Supervisory Committee, championed two things —rapid transportation and improved public spirit. William T.
Findly, secretary to Mayor Kiel, expressed his private views on transportation, annexation and the free bridge.

Incidentally Mrs. John S. Payne was the honor guest. She is moving soon to San Francisco and has resigned as president of the Eighth District Federation of Women's Clubs, a member of the Bond Issue Supervisory Committee, of which body she was the only woman member.

Transportation Main Problem.
Transportation is the outstanding problem which confronts St.
Louis now, Carter declared. He urged a proper reorganization of the United Railways but balked at municipal ownership as recently proposed. A flexible plan, with municipal supervision and a fair return to investors, such as Cleveland is using, would be advisable, he said. Secondly, St. Louis needs above all things else a public spirit. The recent constitutional amendment vote is an example of the lack of it, he declared.

Findly made it very clear he was expressing his personal opinions and not those of the Mayor. He then launched into criticism of the proposal to buy the United Railways with a $51,000,000 bond issue. "It is like rushing to a neighbor's barn to buy a horse before it dies," he declared.

Rather, he urged that the city spend its money for a new way or elevated line with connecting buses to serve as feeders.

Secretary Findly does not approve of the annexation of St.
Louis County. It would be too much of a burden, he thinks. St.
Louis should do the "prodigal's return act" and become again part of St. Louis County, after which it could take in such contiguous territory as is necessary to its proper growth.

Hits Free Bridge.
The Free Bridge, he characterized as "a monument to the asinity of the people who built it."
"Why not make an equitable exchange of the Municipal and East Bridges and both to the use of the people of the community?" he asked.

Findly closed his talk with an expression of regret at the resignation of Mrs. Payne from the Board of Children's Guardians and the bond issue committee. He read the long record of her work in civic and club circles beginning with her work as chairman of the Soldiers and Sailors Club during the war, her work in Liberty Loan drives, and subsequent welfare betterment projects. He brought out the fact that with her departure from St. Louis the bond issue committee would lose its only woman member because its rules forbid the addition of anyone to its ranks.
Carter expressed the committee's regrets.

Mrs. Payne's latest project is a movement to establish a Woman's Civic Building which project she will leave in the hands of the federation when she leaves St. Louis early in May. Her husband, who is vice president of the Winchester-Simmons Co., will take charge of his company's Western territory.

FINGER PRINTS TAKEN IN TOMB OF MRS. BAUER

These Will Be Compared With Those on Sedan Owned by Prisoner.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, April 24.—From the vault in Evergreen Cemetery, Elizabeth, N. J., where her body has lain more than three weeks, Mrs. Maude Bauer, police now hope, may lift lifeless fingers to convict her slayer.

Mrs. Bauer was murdered March 25 by the driver of a Ford sedan on a lonely road in Chelsea, S. I.
Staten Island detectives visited the cemetery yesterday to obtain prints of her left hand. The finger prints will be compared with at least a dozen sets of prints found on the Ford sedan owned by Harry Hoffman, Port Richmond motion picture operator, who is charged with her murder.

Hoffman was taken to New Brighton Court yesterday where Magistrate Croak held him for a further 48 hours on an affidavit charging homicide.

Albert Hoffman, brother of the accused, who previously told police Harry Hoffman sent him a 25-caliber revolver as a Christmas gift, is said to have admitted, before going before the Richmond County grand jury, that Harry sent him the revolver several days after Mrs. Bauer was found dead with two bullet wounds, caused by a 25-caliber weapon.

With the revolver, Albert Hoffman declared, came a note from his brother. In the note, authorities say the witness told them, was the request: "If they find the gun, tell them I sent it to you six weeks before the Bauer murder."

Hair Often Ruined By Careless Washing

Soap should be used very carefully, if you want to keep your hair looking its best. Many soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much free alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it. The best thing for steady use is Mulisid coconut oil shampoo, which is pure and greaseless, and is better than anything else you can use.

Two or three teaspoonfuls is sufficient to cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dirt, dirt, dandruff and excess oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy, wavy and easy to manage.

You can get Mulisid coconut oil shampoo at any drug store; it is inexpensive, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months.

RENARD TAKEN TO PRISON

TO BEGIN SEVEN-YEAR TERM
Did Not Have to Go Before May 10, But Asked for Immediate Transfer.

Three men arrived at Union Station in a taxicab last night and left on a train for the west at 10:20. They looked like traveling men starting out to make their territory, or delegates going to a convention. Only one who watched them for some time would have noticed that the smartly dressed man in the middle of the trio was always kept in the middle.

The man in the middle was Ray Renard, Egan gangster and convicted freight robber, on his way to Leavenworth Penitentiary to serve a seven-year term, and his two friendly-looking companions were his guards. There was no handcuff or other outward sign of constraint.

The officers believe that Renard, who returned to St. Louis Monday from a trip to the Mexican border, prefers their company rather than that of his gang associates. The latter are convinced that Renard has "switched" against them and they will not believe otherwise, at least until the others indicted with him for the downtown mail truck robbery of a year ago have come to trial. If Renard does not appear as a Government witness in that case, the gang may begin to think it has misjudged him.

But knowing how the gang feels toward him at present, Renard kept close to his protectors and viewed approaching strangers warily. His wife rode along on the train as far as St. Charles. Renard did not have to go to prison before May 10, but he was in a hurry to begin his term, and would give the United States Marshal's office no peace until he was taken away.

G. S. Hall, Editor, Dies.
By the Associated Press.
WORCESTER, Mass., April 24.—G. Stanley Hall, president emeritus of Clark University, died at his home today after a prolonged illness.

Underneath where irritation starts the real trouble is reached and soothed away

DO NOT expect ordinary surface remedies to remove a rash, eczema or itching skin disorder. Not on the outside, but down in the under layers of the skin is the real trouble.

Pores clogged with poisonous germs, body cells and tissues swollen and inflamed—these are what must be soothed back to normal before a skin disorder will disappear.

Yet there is a way that brings almost immediate relief. To cleanse the pores, kill germs, and start the skin again acting normally, physicians have for twenty-eight years been prescribing Resinol in their daily practice.

If you have today any spot, rash or irritation on your skin, apply this soothing, healing Ointment. Spread a coating on the affected surface and smooth it in very gently with the fingers. One application will, in many cases, stop the itching completely. Resinol is absolutely harmless. It will not irritate an infant's delicate skin, or even raw exposed flesh. Get a jar at your druggist's today, or send for a free trial sample to Dept. 26, Resinol, Baltimore, Md.

JUDGE DECIDES COPYRIGHTED
MUSIC MAY BE BROADCAST

The Associated Press, Cincinnati, O., April 24.—A decision of far-reaching effect, which, if upheld by higher courts, gives radio broadcasting stations the right to broadcast copyrighted music, was handed down here yesterday by United States District Judge Hickenlooper.

Judge Hickenlooper dismissed a petition filed by Jerome H. Remick & Co., New York publishers, against the American Automobile Accessories Co. of Cincinnati, manufacturer of receiving sets and parts, in which the Remick company sought to enjoin the Cincinnati company from broadcasting a song whose copyright was vested in the New York firm, and to collect damages. In his opinion Judge Hickenlooper held that broadcasting stations were not included in the scope of the copyright law which forbids the performance of copyrighted music, while admitting that there might be a certain amount of indirect profit, such as advertising, resulting from broadcasting. Judge Hickenlooper held that this was not a direct profit of admission per capita such as Congress had in mind in passing the copyright law.

KARL HELFFERICH,
GERMAN BANKER,
KILLED IN WRECK

that Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, president of the German Reichsbank, was one of those killed in the wreck at Bellinona is unfounded. Dr. Schacht is in Berlin. The German railway authorities are incensed at the charge made, as the result of the train wreck in Switzerland, that Germany was supplying antiquated rolling stock for international trains. The Germans point out that no objection had been raised previously by the Swiss authorities to the type of German cars used for regular traffic between Berlin and Milan. The scarcity of sleeping cars and coaches equipped with electric lighting is explained on the ground that Germany is behind in its construction of modern types of cars, due to the heavy deliveries of rolling stock on reparations accounts. The German railway experts, for their part, expressed surprise that a baggage and mail car had not been inserted between the engine and the passenger coaches.

Helfferrich, Stinnes and Havenstein Assailed After Death.

By the Associated Press.

BERLIN, April 24.—Rudolf Havenstein, late president of the Reichsbank, Hugo Stinnes, the industrial leader, and Dr. Karl Helfferrich, ex-Minister of the Treasury, all of whom have died within the past five months, are designated as "the three evil spirits of Germany" by Curt Geyer, communist member of the Reichstag, in a scathing volume which made its appearance on the very day Dr. Helfferrich lost his life in the Swiss train wreck.

While Geyer's volume reiterates the familiar charges against all the three leaders named, his present claim to fame rests in the fact that the author, in preparing his work, had picked out a trio who have been removed from the public stage in Germany with somewhat striking suddenness, the last two within the past few days.

Dr. Helfferrich is charged by Geyer with responsibility for the German war financing, which initiated the period of inflation, inasmuch as he failed to finance the war through the taxation of the munitions industries, says Geyer, but resorted to a scheme of internal loans and willful increase of the German floating debt, accomplished through the unlimited discounting of treasury certificates. This, says the communist writer, ultimately gave the big industrialists a dominating position towards the Government.

waxed linoleum floor

Retail stores need bright, clean floors

"ALWAYS good-looking, and easy to clean" is a seven-word reason why the owner of any kind of retail store will find satisfaction in a linoleum floor.

Linoleum floors are good-looking. The new linoleum offers colors and patterns that chime right in with the character of a business.

A smart shop might incline to a black and white tile inlaid floor. Another might prefer a marble tile. A restaurant looks well with a Dutch tile. Plain color linoleums are always handsome and serviceable anywhere. Then there are Jaspes—two-tone effects in blue, gray, green, and brown—that may be laid with a border of a plain color linoleum. The idea of a bordered linoleum floor is growing in favor. It is individual in appearance. The floor seems built to fit that particular place.

The economy of linoleum

Business men like the floor of Armstrong's Linoleum, because it means no heavy investment, and a very low upkeep cost.

Cemented in place over a lining of builders' deadening felt which is pasted to the wood or concrete underfloor, and edges made tight with waterproof cement, linoleum makes a permanent, quiet, smooth floor that will stand years and years of ordinary walking wear.

Very little care

Such a floor is less of a care than any other kind of floor. Wash it with a mild soap when first laid and then wax it thoroughly, rubbing the wax well in. After that an occasional waxing and polishing and a daily brushing with a slightly waxed dust-mop keeps it in perfect condition. This cuts cleaning costs. A linoleum floor will never need refinishing.

Waxing improves the looks of linoleum and makes it wear longer. The thin film of wax protects the linoleum from walking feet just as a thin film of oil protects machinery from wear by friction. Besides, with the ageing of the waxed surface, the color of the floor becomes soft and mellow in tone.

You can always be proud of your linoleum floor. Even if customers seldom speak about a floor, they are impressed by it. Your linoleum floor will add to the appearance and tone of your store.

Talk to a linoleum merchant

Near you, in your city, is a merchant or contractor who makes a specialty of installing floors of Armstrong's Linoleum to fit different kinds of business—stores, shops, restaurants, theatres, professional offices, and public buildings. Let us send you his name and have him call on you with samples of Armstrong's Linoleum.

He can submit estimates of cost, tell you how your floor should be laid and how to give it proper care.

Write us for our 48-page book, "Business Floors," illustrated with colorplates of the new linoleum floors.

Two Cars of Alcohol Seized.
By the Associated Press.
NORWALK, Conn., April 24.—
Two carloads of alcohol, roughly valued at $100,000, were seized by Federal authorities and Norwalk, police on a siding near the South Norwalk passenger station last night. It was indicated that the cars were loaded at Roton Point from a ship. The seizure, said to be the largest on record since the eighteenth amendment became effective, leads directly to operatives of an organized rum syndicate in New York, it is said.

FRENCH BANKERS
SEEK TO CHECK
RISE OF FRANC

Rapid Advance, Resulting From Panic - Stricken Shorts, Sends It to 6.84 Cents at New York.

BRISK ADVANCE DETRIMENT TO TRADE

French Import and Export Business Suffers Setback When Many Orders Are Canceled.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, April 24.—French banking interests, which six weeks ago were actively buying francs in a determined effort to check the so-called "foreign offensive" against the franc, yesterday were actively selling the French currency in a desperate effort to stabilize it and check the rapid advance resulting from the panic-stricken short interests. From March 10, when they established their record-breaking low of 3.45 cents each, French francs have soared until Wednesday they touched 6.84 cents, the highest quotation since the spring of last year. Paris selling sent them back to 6.63 cents in the late afternoon trading.

International bankers reported that the brisk advance in francs, especially the 60-point jump in the last week, has had an unfavorable effect on French import and export business, resulting in a number of cancellations of orders payable in francs, for which no hedges had been placed in the foreign exchange market. French manufacturers of perfumery, toilet articles and automobiles are reported to have been the hardest hit by cancellations.

Shorts Forced to Retreat.
Heavy speculation in French francs, particularly by Central European speculators, has been under way since the complete collapse of the German paper currency. Emboldened by their early success, these speculators enlarged their operations and the intensity of their attacks until a short interest of unusually huge proportions had been built up, despite artificial attempts to stabilize their currency.

Active retreat of the short interests did not start until after J. P.
Morgan & Co. placed at the disposal of the French Government a credit of $100,000,000 and more if necessary to stabilize its currency. Since then francs have mounted steadily upward.

Swamped With Buying Orders.
French Government support was withdrawn sometime ago when it became evident that shorts, who were being charged as much as 10 per cent a month on uncovered contracts, would provide all the buying power necessary. The rapid progress made in the last fortnight towards a settlement of the reparation plan has brought about such active covering that the London,
New York and Amsterdam markets were swamped with buying orders, most of which were traced to Vienna and Berlin.

The recovery in sterling exchange, which has crossed $4.40 to a new high level for the year, has been due in part to local bankers and to the return of some British capital which was invested in American securities when the Labor Government assumed control, through fear of a capital levy, and other socialistic doctrines being placed in effect.

Americans Find Advantages of Buying Have Disappeared.

By the Associated Press.
PARIS, April 24.—Commercial interests are beginning to complain, hotels and tourist enterprises particularly, pointing out that, while Americans have canceled 20,000 passages engaged for Europe on account of the fall of the dollar, Switzerland, which has suffered grave business stagnation since 1913, resulting from exchange, now is prospering because of the rise of the franc.

It was learned in official circles today that the upward movement of the franc has gone beyond the point desired by the Government and is beginning to show its effects in reduced tax returns and the transformation of a favorable trade balance into a foreign trade deficit. Many American buyers have found that the advantages of buying in France have disappeared.

It was said at the Bank of France that the only way that the speculative movement could be offset was by the issuance of more paper money by the Government, but the governors of the bank were trying to avoid this step. It was said the present condition might continue a fortnight or three weeks longer.

FRIEND OF POOR CHILDREN DEAD

FRANK WYMAN.

FRANK WYMAN, FORMER POSTMASTER, DIES

He Was Prominent in Business Here for Many Years and Was Friend of Children.

Frank Wyman, former postmaster of St. Louis, died this morning at his home, 5845 Cabanne avenue, after an illness of several years, during which he had suffered attacks of paralysis. He had been confined to his bed since Sunday. He was 73 years old.

Prominent in business for many years, Wyman was equally well known as a friend of children, and a worker in movements for their benefit. The Frank Wyman Outing Farm near Eureka, St. Louis County, where hundreds of children from the downtown district were taken every summer, was supported chiefly through his efforts, and his name was given to it by his fellow-workers, after his retirement from active concerns.

In the early days of the Post-Dispatch Christmas Festival, and until he was disabled by illness, Wyman was one of the most active workers for the Festival, and he served repeatedly as the Santa Claus.

He was a native of St. Louis and was the son of Edward Wyman, a noted educator, for whom one of the St. Louis public schools is named. He went to work in 1867 for the firm of Waters, Simmons & Co., which later became the Simmons Hardware Co. He was with the Simmons Hardware Co. for 32 years before his retirement from that concern, in 1900. He was appointed Postmaster by President Roosevelt, and served from 1905 to 1909. He was later president of two manufacturing concerns. He was a leading layman of the Episcopal Church.

He is survived by Mrs. Wyman, who was formerly Miss Mary J. Manny, and by a son, Allan Wyman, and two daughters, Mrs. Fred Peckham of Asheville, N. C., and Mrs. Dudley Bragdon of St. Louis. The funeral will be held Saturday afternoon from the Church of the Ascension.

MOVE TO CUT SHOE WAGES

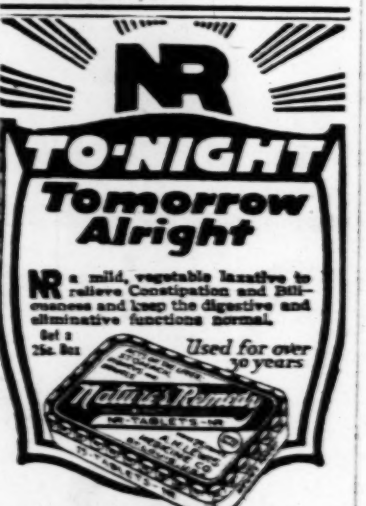

New England Manufacturers Ask for Readjustment of Prices.

By the Associated Press. HAVERTHILL, Mass., April 24.—The Haverhill Shoe Manufacturers' Association has formally requested the Haverhill Shoe Board of Arbitration to allow a complete readjustment of prices in McKay shoe factories with the view of substantial wage reductions. A like petition governing turn shoe prices was submitted by the association to the board earlier in the week.

Several prominent firms have announced recently that unless they receive some wage concessions they will be forced to liquidate or move to other cities.

Plot to Bomb Irish Jail.

BELFAST, April 24.—Discovery is announced of a plot to blow up Maryborough Jail, the convict prison where many Sinn Feiners are serving long term sentences. The discovery was made during the search of a prisoner whose time expired yesterday. Thirty special guards have been drafted to help the local troops.

Can't Make Synthetic Diamond.
 By the Associated Press.
 LONDON, April 24.—That nobody has ever succeeded in making a synthetic diamond is the conviction of Sir Charles Parsons, turbine inventor and scientific investigator. He says he has been trying to make a diamond for 20 years and has spent £20,000 (about $24,000) in his experiments without result. Consequently he believes the late Prof. Moissan, French chemist, and the late Sir William Crookes were mistaken in their claims.

GRAND JURY HEARS EXAMINERS ABOUT HOLLAND BANK

Report in Springfield Is That Former Head of Institution May Waive Immunity and Testify.

CITY DIVIDED INTO FACTIONS

E. L. Sanford Says Certain Notes Classed as of Doubtful Value Will Be Paid.

From a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
 SPRINGFIELD, Mo., April 24.—Springfield is divided into two camps as a special grand jury, convened Tuesday, digs beneath the surface of circumstances surrounding the closing on Jan. 15 last of the Holland Banking Co. of Springfield, the largest State bank in Missouri outside of St. Louis and Kansas City.

The inquiry is the chief topic of street conversation. One school of thought is skeptical as to results, while the other argues that there will be results a-plenty.

Two first witnesses heard by the grand jury were Collins E. Bushnell and C. W. Moody, bank examiners. Bushnell is the examiner to whom the directors of the Holland turned over their bank when $750,000 in ready cash which they had expected to raise to tide them over a close place, was not forthcoming. Moody is the examiner who directed the last inspection of the Holland's affairs made by the State Department of Finance before the bank closed. Both participated in an audit made by the Department of Finance since taking over the institution.

Factions Created.
 Through them could be obtained a "birdseye" view of the Holland and its recent history as well as a thumb sketch of those securities of doubtful value classed by the auditors as "cats and dogs," of which several have been described previously in the Post-Dispatch.

Disaster, which overtook the Holland, has created a factional situation among persons formerly connected with the institution. It has been reported that E. L. Sanford, president of the bank at the time it was closed, was considering asking for permission to appear before the grand jury under a waiver of immunity to throw what light he could on the transactions of the bank while it was under his direction. Sanford said, however, that he could not discuss these reports as attorneys had advised him not to talk for publication at this time.

Sanford was asked about a series of four notes held by the Holland, payable by "B. P. Price & Co." under date of July 1, 1922, for a total of $23,120 which have been regarded by accountants as "cats and dogs" as they had been unable to locate the firm in question. Sanford said the notes "are good and will be paid."

Thinks Notes Were Renewals.
 It is reported that the Holland note case showed also four notes under date of Jan. 12, last, three days before the closing of the bank, for an aggregate of $111,732, two of which are payable by E. L. Sanford and two marked "E. L. Sanford special." Sanford said that he did not recall any such aggregate but presumed that the notes are renewals.

Sanford, in an interview two weeks ago, declared that there is nothing wrong in the bank, that neither he nor anyone else connected with it had profited one cent improperly, and that whatever obligations he had to the institution would be met.

The report of the grand jury is being awaited with considerable anxiety by Springfield and the more than 100 towns of the Ozarks whose 120 banks had deposits with the Holland.

The inventory of the assets of the bank which has been in preparation for some time by the Department of Finance has not been filed with the Recorder of Deeds and probably will not be filed for some time.

HONDURAN CAPITAL BOMBED

Many Reported Killed as Rebel Planes Conduct Attack.

By the Associated Press.
 SAN SALVADOR, April 24.—Rebel airplanes have dropped explosive bombs up on Tegucigalpa, capital of Honduras, killing a number of the inhabitants, according to advices received here. It is said none of the soldiers defending the city was killed. The rebel artillery is bombarding the mountain batteries of the defenders of Tegucigalpa, who have been reinforced by counter-revolutionary troops driven out of Choluteca when the rebels captured that town.

Dispatches received here say that active negotiations for a peaceful settlement of the situation are under way, due to the intervention of Sumner Welles, who was sent to Honduras by President Coolidge in an endeavor to end the warfare. Welles is said to have urged the of provisional President of the discordant factions to agree upon a public and to hold elections.

The Joy of a Garden

DICK out a little garden patch. Dig and turn and pulverize the soil. Fertilize it. Take a stick and make holes in it. Plant seeds there. Look up confidently to the sun and moon and the friendly clouds. Watch the green sprouts spring up and leaves and blossoms grow under the beneficent influence of refreshing showers, and happiness will come to you in many unexpected ways.

This is one of the many joys of owning a home. Add to pleasure, the radiant health and vitality which belong only to those who work and play much in the open; the soul satisfaction of providing security for the future and you have ample reasons why you should take a good real estate dealer into your confidence, tell him what you want in a home, where you want it, and let him show you the attractive homes and home-site properties for sale in and around St. Louis.

NO SURRENDER AND NO COMPROMISE

All Read Out but Couzens, Who Is a Rich Man; National Committee Paper Now Called Free Agent.

A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

WASHINGTON, April 24.—

While the regulars of the Republican party were holding gratification meetings in every corridor at the capital yesterday over the elimination of Gov. Pinchot of Pennsylvania as a factor in the party's affairs, the National Republican house organ of the National Committee was serving notice of uncompromising war on all the other progressives.

The defeat of Pinchot for delegate to the Cleveland convention by Ralph B. Strassburger is variously hailed as a triumph for Secretary Mellon, and the comeback of the Pennsylvania machine that was eclipsed by Pinchot's domination and election as Governor two years ago. The prohibitionists are doing what mourning there is for the fate of the Governor, for it was his banner he carried when he charged on the Coolidge administration for failure to enforce the law, and now they regard Pennsylvania as a hopeless backslide among the States.

There are more elements of grim comedy in the episode of the National Republican Committee, edited by Secretary Lockwood of the committee, and now being published by the committee, which lends a peculiar solemnity to its announcement yesterday that the National Republican did not desire longer to be known as the organ of the Republican National Committee, or the mouthpiece of the National Republican organization.

Reaction to Last Attack.

The declaration probably is the result of the reaction to its article last week in which it read Senator Norris of Nebraska out of the party. As President Coolidge has been wooing the Progressives with proposals of farm legislation, in the effort to keep them in line, the belated Norris, who even had been spoken of for the second place on the Coolidge ticket, must have been annoying if not embarrassing to the President. Perhaps he insisted on the disclaimer of party responsibility.

As Senators Norris, Brookhart and Couzens in all probability will be running on the Republican ticket this fall, there is significance in the National Committee's paper that "there is no obligation in party loyalty to support candidates for office, nominally Republican, but actually anti-Republican, who may be foisted upon the party ticket by organized minorities through enemy participation in unrestricted primaries."

It is true that in last week's list of the politically condemned, Senator Couzens' name did not appear. He happens to be a very rich man, with possibilities of comfortable campaign contributions.

Republican Statement.

"The time has come," said the National Republican, announcing, "when those who believe in the Republicanism of Lincoln, Grant, Garfield, Harrison, McKinley and Roosevelt must refuse to surrender or compromise to the demagogic radicals who, in harmony with every real principle and ideal of Republicanism, whose only relationship to the Republican party is to use the party for the furtherance of their own personal ambitions, who, when in office, are disloyal to its principles, its policies and its programs."

SCANDALS OF SEVENTIES HIT GRANT, GARFIELD AND HAYES ADMINISTRATIONS

Whisky-Ring Graft, Believed to Have Centered in St. Louis, Involved 100 Federal Officials Prosecuted.

The Post-Dispatch reprints herewith an interesting article from the current issue of The Nation on the governmental corruption which flourished for years following the civil war. The article is made more interesting by comparison with revelations at Washington today. Activities of "Whisky Ring" grafters, and the part which St. Louisians played are important angles in the account.

By Arthur Warner.

SPREADING IN Congress toward the close of the Grant administration of the frauds and scandals that had been coming to light one after another since the Civil War, George F. Hoar, of Massachusetts, said:

A great war time, which follows a great war, is a time of public debts, currency and values inflated; to exertion of new and extraordinary powers for the safety of the state; the sudden call of millions of slaves to share in the Government—any one of these things would be expected to create great disturbance, and give rise to great temptations and great corruptions. Our term of office has seen them all combined. And yet I do not scruple to affirm that not only has there been less dishonesty and maladministration in the 18 years of Republican rule proportionally to the number and wealth of the people than in the first 18 years after the Civil War, but there has been less absolutely of those things.

In the same way we may look back from the official debauchery in the wake of the World War, and comparing it with that directly after the Civil War, derive as much hope as did Mr. Hoar when he turned from the sorry spectacle of the day to the sins of the founding fathers. If it is any consolation to know that one's forebears were worse than oneself, there is hope for this generation in the almost continuous story of national degradation that was given to the public during the presidency of Gen. Grant, continuing in lesser degree into the terms of Hayes and Garfield.

Bribery and Jobbery.

The opening chapter was the uncovering of the Credit Mobilier with its trail of bribery and jobbery in the building of our first transcontinental railway. This great project, begun in 1832, languished for years, until in 1862, four years later, when the contract for construction was taken over by the Credit Mobilier of America, a Pennsylvania corporation with wide financial powers, the coalition was finally sprung.

Reaction to Last Attack.

The declaration probably is the result of the reaction to its article last week in which it read Senator Norris of Nebraska out of the party. As President Coolidge has been wooing the Progressives with proposals of farm legislation, in the effort to keep them in line, the belated Norris, who even had been spoken of for the second place on the Coolidge ticket, must have been annoying if not embarrassing to the President. Perhaps he insisted on the disclaimer of party responsibility.

As Senators Norris, Brookhart and Couzens in all probability will be running on the Republican ticket this fall, there is significance in the National Committee's paper that "there is no obligation in party loyalty to support candidates for office, nominally Republican, but actually anti-Republican, who may be foisted upon the party ticket by organized minorities through enemy participation in unrestricted primaries."

It is true that in last week's list of the politically condemned, Senator Couzens' name did not appear. He happens to be a very rich man, with possibilities of comfortable campaign contributions.

$2,123,770 IN FREIGHT SAVED BY FEDERAL BARGES

Statistics Compiled by Mississippi Valley Association for 30 Months Prior to Dec. 31.

TONNAGE ORIGINATES LARGELY BY RAIL

Comes From All Sections of North and Northwest for Delivery to Points in the South.

A $2,123,770 saving in freight rates on goods shipped by the Federal barge line in the 30 months prior to Dec. 31 last, by merchants from North Dakota to Florida, and Maine to Texas, is shown in figures made public today by the Mississippi Valley Association in connection with a waterways conference May 16 and 17 at St. Paul.

More than half the tonnage of the barge line comes by rail from shippers not on the river, and the freight rate saving—20 per cent—applies to this traffic just the same as on freight shipped altogether by river. The average saving per ton, as compared to railroad freight rates, is estimated at $1.40.

On the basis of the Mississippi Warrier Service during the 30-month period ending Dec. 31, 1923, with a total saving to shippers of $2,123,770, together with the saving in freight rates accruing to shippers in each state.

Missouri First in Tonnage.

Missouri heads the list in tonnage shipped by water and therefore in the amount saved to its shippers. The State furnished 587,008 tons of the river traffic in the 30 months, and thereby saved $762,608. Far away shipped 426,717 tons, but only saved $109,319, because virtually all of this tonnage was in ores, which have a very low rail rate.

Illinois shippers and consignees saved $234,171 on 295,516 tons, of which the greater part was grain, some of which came by barge down the Illinois River. Tennessee, tapped for some months by a fast package service, saved $170,152 on 100,613 tons, and thereby saved $130,797. Alabama shipped 426,717 tons, but only saved $109,319, because virtually all of this tonnage was in ores, which have a very low rail rate.

Grant's own relations to the fraud were most unfortunate. When evidence was finally obtained and indictments were returned against nearly 100 Government officials, Gen. O. E. Babcock, Grant's private secretary, was among the number. Grant himself, when visiting Louisiana, paid for a pair of horses and a carriage from some of the men who were later implicated in the frauds. Babcock had received a gift of a $2400 shirt suit, but had complained because there was a flaw in the diamond. His loving friends thereupon substituted another and let us hope satisfactory jewel. When a letter of accusation against Babcock came before Grant, the President endorsed it with the simple famous sentence: "Let no guilty man escape." Unfortunately, his acts belied his words. The prosecutors of Babcock complained of obstacles due to influential higher-ups, and though a number of prominent men were found guilty, the President's private secretary was acquitted. The public was not so lenient, and criticism soon after dismissed his protegee soon after.

Diversity of the Traffic.

Recent savings on river shipments are quoted to show the diversity of the traffic. Over 200,000 tons of wheat and corn to New Orleans for export; $277,775 was saved on 127,512 tons of sugar from that port to the Central States, and $122,862 on 81,510 tons of lumber from New Orleans to East St. Louis.

Other quotations are: $1500 on 300 tons of pianos from Rockford, Ill., for the Pacific Coast; $920 on 250 tons of refrigerators from Muskegon, Mich., to New Orleans; $1780 on 400 tons of malted milk from Racine, Wis., to Memphis and New Orleans and $11,700 on 900 tons of steel tank plates from Chicago, Cal. California.

The St. Paul conference is the second held by the Mississippi Valley Association to organize for showing shippers in localities not patronized by the barge line what advantages it has, and to crystallize sentiment behind the waterways bill in Congress, which has been favorably reported by the House Committee on Rivers and Harbors. Invitations have been sent to 200 business men and agriculturists from the Upper Mississippi Valley.

Jobs over the counter, cash and carry; he found work for the needy applicants on a commission basis; he had all the outward stuff and internal grapple of an employment agency. And speaking of granite, he made $90,000 on the side through contracts for soldiers' monuments in national cemeteries. Eventually he outplayed his hand, the scandal got too loud, and one fine day the House of Representatives voted to impeach him. But Belknap beat Congress to it. A couple of hours before the vote was taken he submitted his resignation to Grant and it was immediately accepted.

Sold Government Positions.

As if this were not fifth enough for one administration, Grant's Secretary of War, W. W. Belknap, went wading up to the ears in a financial mire about him. He turned his office into a brokerage bureau for job hunters, and made a small fortune selling positions in the Government service. He sold

Where Barge Line Patronage Comes From

THE illustration above shows the tonnage by states, transported by the Mississippi Warrier Service during the 30-month period ending Dec. 31, 1923, with a total saving to shippers of $2,123,770, together with the saving in freight rates accruing to shippers in each state.

THE occupation of the Ruhr by the French has probably been a good thing for both Germany and France, and this is true in spite of the fact that it has brought starvation into Germany—how much a casual visitor like myself cannot tell—and probably some misery into France, along with the downfall of the franc. It has brought both governments a little nearer to their senses. It has weakened the big industrialists of Germany and France, who seem to be directing the tactics of both countries. The French now know they cannot collect the indemnity by seizing the chief manufacturing region of Germany. And the Germans now know that they cannot escape paying by fantastically destroying the value of their own money, and by appealing to the sympathy of the world through the big industrialists of Germany and France, who seem to be directing the tactics of both countries. The French now know they cannot collect the indemnity by seizing the chief manufacturing region of Germany. And the Germans now know that they cannot escape paying by fantastically destroying the value of their own money, and by appealing to the sympathy of the world through the big industrialists of Germany and France, who seem to be directing the tactics of both countries.

Every one continues to predict an agreement between the iron, steel and coal interests of Germany and France, under which Central Europe may once more get to work. The problem is still what Mr. Baruch said it was at the Paris peace conference: getting the world back to work. The natural resources are still here. A trained and highly industrious population is here, waiting after years of want, to work harder and longer hours than ever before. And great technical skill is available. It is just madness, that after five years the world still can't get back to work. To be sure, there is a staggering burden of debt; but it must not be forgotten that much of the debt of Europe has been wiped out by paying it off with worthless paper, cruelly, unfairly, ruthlessly wiped out, but still it is gone. Liv- ing in a fine hotel in Berlin, I have been speculating on how its proprietor has survived the last 10 years. Much of the time since peace you could get the finest American—now, unfortunately, I don't know. But I can guess that there were a good many millions of bonds and mortgages standing against the hotel which have been paid off in marks, of which 150,000,000 now will buy you the shortest ride on a bus. Fortunately was the man who borrowed money before or during the war—almost anywhere in Europe.

When the Germans and the French industrialists do reach an understanding and put Europe to work, the British and Belgian and Italian interests will join in it.

SIDENER ANNOUNCES FOR RENOMINATION

Circuit Attorney Files in Face of Inquiry Being Conducted Into His Office.

By the Associated Press.

ATLANTA, Ga., April 24.—

Prosecuting Attorney three times, resigning in the middle of his third term to seek the nomination for Circuit Attorney. In each of his campaigns he has been without active support from the Republican "machine," defeating the organization at times and other times forcing it to remain inactive in so far as his candidacy was concerned.

Sidener will have the support of a majority of Republican committeemen, his friends declare. They are worried, however, by reports that Henry A. Rosskopf, president of the Board of Education and former Assistant Circuit Attorney, will also seek the nomination.

Rosskopf would get considerable organization support, politicians say. He has not announced his intentions. Joseph C. Schroeder, former Fifteenth Ward committeeman, and Arthur Zachritz, former St. Louis University football star, are candidates for the nomination but are not expected to have much political backing.

Andrew C. Maroney and Thomas F. O'Brien have filed for the Democratic nomination and Ernest P. Oakley, former Prosecuting Attorney, is expected to do so.

Recently Sidener has been subject to criticism regarding his management of his office, accusations having been brought of favoritism toward some persons charged with crime. The last grand jury exonerated him after an investigation, but the present grand jury has again taken up the matter. Thomas T. Fauntleroy, an attorney, was selected by the grand jury to conduct the examination of witnesses and to make possible his appearance before the grand jury. Sidener appointed him an Assistant Circuit Attorney.

partly because they all signed the Peace Treaty of Versailles and partly because none of them can face competition of a French-German Ruhr. That will end the commercial competition in Europe which precipitated the great war, and it will be the beginning of a sort of United States of Europe. If the League of Nations ever comes to have any meaning, it will become capital in Europe has become international. And when capital does, labor in this part of the world will also have to become international. A sort of capitalistic fascism over the greater part of Europe will very likely be the next phase. Certainly democracy will have to do much better than it is doing now if it is going to hold its own.

ARKANSAS DEMOCRATS INDORSE ROBINSON

Delegates to New York Are Instructed to Vote for Senate Leader.

By the Associated Press.

ATLANTA, Ga., April 24.—

The State Democratic Central Committee, in session here yesterday, named 44 delegates to represent Arkansas at the national convention, and instructed the delegation to vote as a unit. Each delegate will have half a vote in the convention, Arkansas having a total of 22 votes.

The committee adopted a resolution urging each delegate to "use his best efforts to further the selection of United States Senator Joseph T. Robinson for the presidential nomination, so long as he has the 'slightest chance for the nomination.'"

Arkansas would get considerable organization support, politicians say. He has not announced his intentions. Joseph C. Schroeder, former Fifteenth Ward committeeman, and Arthur Zachritz, former St. Louis University football star, are candidates for the nomination but are not expected to have much political backing.

CITY DEMOCRATS LAUNCH ANOTHER "REFORM" MOVE

This Time the Preliminary Work Is Centered in Twenty-Sixth Ward in the West End.

NEW CLUB ORGANIZED THERE BY VOTERS

"By-Product" Expected Is the Election of a Committeeman More Representative of the Masses.

By CURTIS A. BEETS.

A group of optimistic Democrats in the Twenty-sixth Ward have again undertaken to "reform" the Democratic party organization in St. Louis, a task several times essayed in the past, but without a marked degree of success.

This time the preliminary work is centered in the West End ward, which was the scene of particularly objectionable tactics in the election of a delegation to the Democratic State convention. Under organization direction the mass meeting to select delegates was in a hall, the front door of which was locked, while the organization ad- dressed its delegates. A contesting delegation was seated at the convention.

New Ward Club Formed.

For the announced purpose of stimulating interest among all Democrats of the ward, there was formed last night at the Cabanne Branch Library, Union boulevard and Cabanne avenue, the Twenty-sixth Ward Democratic Club, with a Board of Directors, on which Reed and anti-Reed supporters are represented.

One of the leaders in the ward today said it was hoped that one of the "by-products" would be the elimination of Patrick J. McNamara, ward committeeman, and the election of a committeeman who, he said, would be more representative of the mass of Democrats.

"Gang tactics in politics are a direct result of the failure of the so-called better citizens to take an active interest in ward politics," this leader said. "The better citizen" observes the gang tactics and makes up his mind that politics is too dirty and he will not have anything to do with it.

Would End Gang Politics.

"If through our organization the Democrats who believe in clean politics can be interested and induced to participate in ward politics and in the selection of ward committeemen, gang politics in our ward will be a thing of the past."

While the reform movement has not made the progress in other wards that it has in the Twenty-sixth, it is said there will be similar organizations in other wards and that an effort will be made to retire several members of the committee.

This is about the first time that the anti-gang Democrats have attempted to proceed along practical lines to accomplish their purpose. Previous efforts have been in the nature of the formation of advisory organizations, but it has been found that the City Committee gave them no consideration and that when it came to the practical politics of primary and election periods, the usual organization methods prevailed. Deals were made and in some wards there was startling evidence of the control of election officials by ward politicians.

Will Try to Arouse Voters.

Now it is proposed to elect the committeemen by arousing interest among voters who usually do not participate in ward affairs. The failure of such participation is the strength of the directors of the sort of organization to which objection is made.

One member of the City Committee, speaking of the contests at Springfield, said after the convention:

"Charles Hay and this crowd always show up with a contest at the State convention. Where are they the rest of the four years? You don't find that crowd doing the hard work of politics. They are not on hand when it comes to polling the ward or getting out the vote."

It is said that one of the purposes of the new organization is to do this sort of work. If that purpose is carried out there is a possibility of success, but if it becomes only a club for occasional meetings it undoubtedly will go the way of other organizations which have had reform for their purpose.

Officers of New Club.

Jacob M. Lashly, a lawyer, was elected president of the club. The members of the Board of Directors are Harold R. Small, Thomas E. Mulvihill, John J. Hicks, George T. Priest, Patrick H. Cullen, O'Neill Ryan, Thomas Toney, Charles M. Hay, George Schenck, J. J. O'Donoghue.

TEACHERS CHARGE INVASION ON INCREASE

Association Issues Statement
Declaring Board and Superintendent Neglect Salary Issue.

St. Louis High School Teachers Association believes it is being invaded by a "shuffler," by means of which the request for increased salaries is avoided by the Board of Education and the Superintendent of Instruction. The high school teachers' association on this subject made public today its statement.

Nearly a year ago, the St. Louis High School Teachers Association presented to the public consideration of the salary issue, which was prepared to show the Superintendent of Instruction and the Board of Education that its request for more adequate salaries for the high school teachers was reasonable and justifiable. The public feature of the campaign for the increase was discontinued when it was learned, in an official way last July, that the board was making an investigation of the entire matter of teachers' salary question. We believed that a start had been made. Therefore, we assumed that favorable recommendation to the board of Education would follow. At that time, we considered that public publicity would be inappropriate.

"It has been a great disappointment to the high school teachers that so far as they know, nothing has ever come of the investigation which the Superintendent was requested to have made. We know that the conclusions established by the study, though we did not have information on the subject, it has been impossible to determine the actual difficulty which is obstructing favorable action on the question. Interviews with members of the Board of Education have served to establish the position in our minds that the responsibility of stating and sponsoring any recommendation to the board of Education is the responsibility of the high school teachers' association. The board devolves solely on the Superintendent of Instruction. A year and a half ago, the Superintendent, in a general way, set of work that the board would not consider favorably any recommendation which would call for increased expenditure of funds. It is apparent that this combination of attitude and sponsoring any recommendation to the board of Education is a position which is impossible. In the Superintendent's position, the board would not spend money which the increase would cost, and many members of the board stand upon the limitations of initiative power.

"It is true that the charter which governs the management of the public schools of St. Louis places the power of initiative in matters concerning the instruction department, and vests it in the Superintendent. However, there is no intention of denying the board the right of constructive criticism. In fact, it is entirely evident that it would be impossible, from a standpoint of responsibility, to administer the schools without the cooperation of the board. The board of Education, in its position, is a most wholesome influence. When a people sing together in a better humor to work together. It is expected that hundreds of cities will take part in the celebration of Music Week throughout America. The use of the radio, however, is carrying the best music even to remote and solitary places, so that what is sung in the cities will be heard in every part of the land. The Salzburg festival, organization of the Society for Contemporary Music and the wider reach of the radio suggest that the time will come when we will be an International Music Week. The coming contemporary international celebration in Prague this year is to be incumbent upon each national society to provide for an adequate performance of its country's music. America is well represented in that symphonic meeting, but the time will no doubt come when we shall have our contribution to make in it—as well as in economics.

THE MIRROR OF PUBLIC OPINION

This column is designed to reproduce about the latest comment by the leading publicists, newspapers and periodicals

"UNITED STATES OF MUSIC"

HERE has been organized in Europe the International Society for Contemporary Music, with its headquarters in London, which is referred to by one critic as the "United States of Music." That it is internationally constituted may be inferred from a performance by it in Salzburg in August, 1922. A musical work was rendered by an English singer, a German string quartet, French wind players and an Austrian pianist, under an English conductor, and a dozen different nationalities were gathered in the audience, of the kind, it is said, had been known to happen in any field of intellectual artistic activity since the brilliant season of 1914, which, in the light of subsequent events, was as the feast of Belshazzar. At such a meeting of men of a common interest, though it seems the most natural thing in the world, should cause common something extraordinary, suggests the idea of mind which still persists in Europe. Music Week, is approaching in America. Early in May the whole country will be filled with the sounds of choruses and orchestras. "The singers as well as the players on instruments" will be here. This experience should have a most wholesome effect. When a people sing together in a better humor to work together. It is expected that hundreds of cities will take part in the celebration of Music Week throughout America. The use of the radio, however, is carrying the best music even to remote and solitary places, so that what is sung in the cities will be heard in every part of the land. The Salzburg festival, organization of the Society for Contemporary Music and the wider reach of the radio suggest that the time will come when we will be an International Music Week. The coming contemporary international celebration in Prague this year is to be incumbent upon each national society to provide for an adequate performance of its country's music. BODIES OF LAST OF BOURBONS LIE FORGOTTEN IN VIENNA

Remains Were Moved to Escape
Air Attacks, Charles X. Claimed.

VIENNA, April 24.—The mortal remains of the last of the French Bourbons lie abandoned in the chapel of a suburban convent here, says the Neues Wiener Journal. The bodies of Charles X, his son, the Duc d'Angoulême (Louis Antoine de Bourbon), the Duchess d'Angoulême (Marie Thérèse Charlotte), the daughter of Louis XVI, and the Comte de Chambord are buried here. The bodies were brought to Vienna from Gorizia, by order of former Emperor Zita during the war, to protect them from possible damage during aerial bombardments. They were placed in the chapel of the convent, which was intended to build a museum of the revolution, however, forestalled this plan, the newspaper says, and the bodies were practically forgotten. That of Charles X was poorly maintained and is crumbling into dust.

FRANZ STIMNES SEVERELY ILL

He died, 1924, by the Press and Pulitzer Prize, the "Post-Dispatch."

BERLIN, April 23.—Franz Stimnes is severely ill with gallstones, says the final arbiter of any dispute that they arise in the family over disposition and the management of the dead magnate's estate. The industrialist's world-wide fame was left to his family as a legacy, with the idea that Franz Stimnes could keep any possible profit from unsetting his plan for the perpetual effectiveness of his fortune as one working unit.

Romance of Miss Mary J. Scherrer
Had Its Beginning at Atlantic City Last Year.

Ordinarily a bankers' convention is matter-of-fact stuff. Loans, discounts, collateral and taxes are main topics of discussion. Romance is elsewhere. The convention of the American Bankers' Association at Atlantic City Sept. 24-25 last, was different for at least two delegates. There Miss Mary J. Scherrer, assistant trust officer of the National Bank of Commerce, St. Louis, and Gordon H. Sawyer, vice president and cashier of the Southern Arizona Bank & Trust Co., Tucson, Ariz., were introduced. They were friends when the convention ended. They returned to Tucson and St. Louis, but correspondence followed.

At 11 o'clock this morning in Christ Church Cathedral, Miss Scherrer became Mrs. Sawyer. Dean Scarlett officiating. Out of the question toward the question of the board of Education is a position which is impossible. In the Superintendent's position, the board would not spend money which the increase would cost, and many members of the board stand upon the limitations of initiative power.

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR DUSE

Italian Ambassador Lays Wreath on Coffin in Presence of Few.

PITTSBURGH, April 24.—Prince Galeoio Caetani, Italian Ambassador, yesterday placed a wreath of flowers on the coffin of Mune. Eleonora Duse, as an expression of the sorrow of the Italian people at the death of the famous tragedienne. The ceremony was held in an undertaker's chapel, where La Duse's body has reposed since her death here Monday.

Only the representatives of the Italian Government and members of the company attended the brief services. As they were leaving the chapel, several members of the company were seen talking loudly among themselves, giving the impression that there was some dissatisfaction over arrangements for the funeral. Consul Telesio Lucini denied that any untoward incident marked the services. The funeral party, including all members of the company, will leave Pittsburgh Saturday night for New York. There, after public services next week in St. Patrick's Cathedral, the body will be taken aboard the liner Duilio, which sails for Genoa, May 1.

POINTS OUT OBSTACLES TO SATURDAY CLOSING

Associated Retailers' Manager Says It Would Work Hardship on Many Customers.

Replying to requests for information as to the attitude of retail stores in regard to Saturday afternoon closing the year round, K. F. Niemoeller, secretary-manager of the Associated Retailers of St. Louis today said:

"The stores of the city are, first of all, public servants. Their first consideration necessarily must be the convenience of their patrons. Many St. Louisans who work in shops, offices and factories have only leisure time during the week, and practically all of them utilize at least a portion of it for shopping.

"The crowds in the stores Saturday afternoon are composed almost entirely of those who cannot come down at any other time, and to close the store then would be a hardship on these patrons. The stores realize to the fullest the desirability, both from the viewpoint of the employers and employees, of giving those who work in the stores just as much time as possible for them to relax and find recreation.

"To bring this about, many of the downtown stores, which are members of the Associated Retailers, close not a half-day, but all day on Saturdays during July and August. The store workers are encouraged to go out Friday evening and spend the week-end in the country, and the stores do what they can to make this possible. One of the large stores maintains a large farm in the Ozarks where those of its employees who choose to do so may go each week-end. The store owners are cognizant of the benefits that accrue from giving employees as much leisure time as is possible.

"It is regrettable, of course, that the stores cannot be closed a half-day each Saturday throughout the year. To do so, though, would work a hardship on thousands of St. Louisans and for this reason the idea is not feasible in so far as the stores are concerned. Constant thought is being given the welfare of store workers by executives, and assuredly, as better conditions can be worked out generally, this will be done."

PHYSICIANS WHOSE CARDS APPEARED IN PAPER REBUKED

Letters Sent to 20 Members of Medical Society by the Ethical Committee.

When professional cards of 20 members of the St. Louis Medical Society recently appeared in a directory and buyers' guide published by the St. Louis Catholic Herald, the Ethical Committee of the medical society held a special meeting for Philadelphia to join Mr. Meyer, who became suddenly ill while there on a business trip, and who underwent an operation last night.

Miss Helen Rend had departed for her home in Chicago following the departure of Mr. Meyer. The doctors began to check up. They found they had contributed $3 recently to the Catholic Herald. They were under the impression the money was for a subscription and not for a professional card.

"There is no question but that the publication of the card was unethical," Dr. P. C. Ernst of the Humboldt Building said. His view was echoed by Dr. J. C. Lyter, Frisco Heights. Dr. J. Leland Boogher sought to present a resolution protesting against the Ethical Committee's letter at a meeting of the society Tuesday night. He was ruled out of order when he offered the resolution. After time for considering resolutions was reached under the rules, he had departed.

Mr. and Mrs. Bailey's daughter, Miss Carolyn, has as her guests Miss Sanford Mudd, and Miss Dorothy McKenize, both of Plainfield, N. J. They will remain until the first of next week. Because of mourning in the Bailey family the entertaining for them is most informal.

Invitations were received in this morning's mail from Mrs. Harvey Gilmer Mudd for a tea Wednesday afternoon, April 26, at her home, 47 Vandeventer place, to meet Mrs. Sanford Mudd. The guests have been invited from 4 to 6 o'clock. Dr. and Mrs. Stuart Mudd and their baby daughter, Emily, are the guests of Dr. Mudd's parents for 10 days.

COLUMBIA, Mo., April 24.—

St. Louis Symphony Orchestra last night gave the last of its concerts in Columbia for this season before the largest audience that has ever attended any of its concerts in this city. The orchestra gave a concert in the afternoon, especially for school children. Pupils in the public schools between the fourth and eighth grades were admitted free, and all grade and high school teachers attended the concert as the guests of Phil Mu Alpha, under the auspices of which the orchestra appeared here. Both afternoon and evening concerts were given in the university auditorium.

Helen Traubel, soprano, was the soloist. The evening program included the overture to "Egmont," by Beethoven; Brahms' Symphony in C minor; the fantastic overture, "Youth," by Borowski; "Deutscher Jäger," from "Loulise," "Chapin," and "Espana," Chabrier. Miss Traubel was enthusiastically received and granted three encores, an aria from "Tannhauser" and two songs by Rudolf Ganz. The orchestra played an Irish tune by Grainger as an encore to its last number.

Tim Birmingham Decides Not to Seek State Auditorship.

Tim Birmingham of St. James, formerly State Fish and Game Commissioner, announced in St. Louis last night that he had reconsidered his decision to be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for State Auditor, and would not seek the place. Birmingham's withdrawal leaves the contest between three candidates, George H. Middokamp of Kansas City, former State Treasurer, and defeated nominee for Auditor in 1920; Robert E. Lee Morris of Carthage, a candidate for the nomination in 1920; and John Tolson of Fayette, a farmer and former member of the Legislature.

Political Notes.

The Moore-for-Governor headquarters today issued a comment on the announcement of John M. Atkinson that he would not seek the Democratic nomination for Governor. The claim was made that much of the Atkinson strength, particularly in Southeast Missouri, would go to Moore, and that he had a good lead in Northeast Missouri, where he was born and reared.

A group of St. Louis women, who have been active in Republican politics, has formed a committee to promote the candidacy of Mrs. Grace Semple Burlingham for election as Republican National Committeewoman from Missouri, to succeed Mrs. Lon O. Hocker, who is a candidate for re-election. William Maffitt Bates, recently appointed an Assistant Circuit Attorney, yesterday filed for election as Republican City Committeeman from the Twenty-third Ward.

The April meeting of the Republican Women's Club in the Chamber of Commerce yesterday was addressed by Mrs. Lon O. Hocker, Republican National Committeewoman from Missouri, who urged support of President Coolidge. Other speakers were Mrs. N. P. Zimmer, Mrs. E. E. Rudolph, Mrs. William F. Otto, Mrs. Charles Hoyt, Mrs. Charles Ellis and Miss Elizabeth Farrell.

Sidney J. Roy of Hannibal, a lawyer, is being brought forward by Northeast Missouri Democrats as a possible candidate for the Democratic nomination for Lieutenant-Governor. Roy has a wide acquaintance throughout the State, having been identified with a number of public enterprises of statewide interest. He is expected to announce his candidacy within a few days. State Senator Carter M. Ruford of Ellington and Representative Robert J. Hains of Slater are candidates for the nomination.

The Twentieth Ward Regular Republican Club at its meeting last night at 4209 Easton avenue adopted a resolution calling upon the ward delegation to the Republican State Convention in Springfield Tuesday to support any resolution denouncing the Ku Klux Klan.

SCANDALS HIT GRANT, GARFIELD AND HAYES ADMINISTRATIONS

Immediately accepted by the complacent President. Just the same the Senate proceeded to an impeachment trial. The ex-Secretary's lawyer argued that with his client out of office the Senate had no further authority. The Senate, by a close vote, decided that it had, and then went on by an equally close majority to record its belief in the ex-Secretary's guilt. But as a two-thirds vote is necessary to convict in an impeachment trial, the verdict had to be one of acquittal.

Star Route Mail Frauds.

The Star Route frauds were not brought into the open until Grant had left the White House, but they undoubtedly owe their origin to the political ineptitude and moral anemia of his administration. The distribution of mail in the West depended then to a considerable extent upon stage lines of which, in 1878, nearly 10,000 had contracts with the Government at a cost of almost $5,000,000. A syndicate was formed consisting of mail contractors and both Republican and Democratic politicians (even then the two historic parties were combining when self-interest demanded) for the purpose of increasing the amounts paid to certain stage lines. The usual method was to get up "petitions" asking for an increase in the number of trips a week or for quickening the time of the run. Then the politicians saw to it that the "estimates" were allowed, and the swag was divided between the gentlemen crooks in Washington and the flannel-shirt hold-up men in the provinces. By this method the payments to 135 routes were raised from $143,189 to $422,808, while the payroll of 25 lines was boosted from $55,216 to $350,319. It is said that some of these stage services did not carry three letters a week.

Shakedown for Campaign Fund.

As in the case of the whiskey ring, it was hard to obtain evidence of the conspirators in the Star Route swindles, and even when it was in hand the ramifications of the gang were so considerable—and their mutual insurance system so effective—that prosecution was impeded. The Second Assistant Postmaster-General, Thomas W. Brady, was generally believed to be implicated, but he stood off prosecution by making it known that if he were proceeded against he would reveal some correspondence dragging President Garfield into the mess. effort will be made to roll up for Eventually he did make public a letter from the President to the chairman of the Republican Congressional Committee, beginning "My dear Hubbell" and expressing the hope that Brady "would give them all the assistance possible." Brady declared that this meant that he was to get money from the Star Route contractors. The President replied that it was intended as a call upon Brady to contribute to the campaign fund out of his own pocket. The letter was at least in delicate and unwise, and another sentence in it, "Please tell me how the departments generally are doing," showed Garfield's knowledge of and connivance in an effort to shake down Government employees for the party campaign fund.

Entire Prosecution Fizzled.

Whether Brady could have made other and worse exposures cannot be told. Anyhow, various excuses were found for postponing his trial, and it was finally dropped. For that matter the entire prosecution fizzled. According to the account of E. Benjamin Andrews, only one man was ever punished, "and in this case the Government was in error, as the man was innocent."

Perhaps the genius of the counsel for the defense had something to do with the failure to obtain convictions for the Star Route frauds. Col. Robert G. Ingersoll was one of the lawyers, and it is doubtful if the records of criminal defense contain a more brilliant coup than his plea for a client who had served in the Civil War, before a jury in which sat three negroes, all probably former slaves. Turning upon these negroes one after the other, "it is for you, and for you, and for you," he said, "to say whether a man who fought to take the chains off your body shall have chains put on his by your prejudice and ignorance."

possible his official existence. An effort will be made to roll up for this organization a membership of at least a million men and women, banded together for the purpose of waging war on those who seek to destroy their party from within.

"What Shall It Profit?"

"Honesty and courage in this matter are the best strategy. What shall it profit a party to win nominal control of a Government, only to find itself powerless to develop the policies to which it is publicly pledged? The only victory it is worth while for a party to win is that gained in squared-deed fight for principle, under conditions which make it possible for a party to make good in the application of those principles to government. "The National Republican wants and intends to be free to pursue this policy without complication or embarrassment—hence this declaration of an independence which is the highest form of fealty to a cause in which this paper believes which they believe."

and for which it intends to at a time of national crisis, unprecedented in many of our nation's history, is more than ever the duty of citizen and of every public official to battle boldly in behalf of that cause in which this paper believes which they believe."

FOURTEEN YEARS OF CONSTANT GROWTH

FOURTEEN YEARS ago this business was founded—with a declaration of principles that astounded St. Louis. Thousands and thousands welcomed the new store as a deliverance from high prices. Critics declared our policies unsound and said that any success we might achieve would be short-lived. Many wondered whether our promises would ever come true.

FOURTEEN YEARS of constant and phenomenal growth have proven that our policies were right. Economical buyers have profited by our progress—and have helped us prosper. Many who disagreed with our principles are now their strongest champions. All who doubted, now realize that our policies are sound and economically correct.

FOURTEEN YEARS of strict adherence to our original policies have achieved the success that we hoped for. Friends are being added by the thousand. Our scope of usefulness is widening. Each year sees a mounting volume of sales—and every cent of added volume is helping us to offer even greater concessions in price, in quality and in service.

Here is the Platform We Announced in 1910

STRICT ADHERENCE TO EVERY POLICY IS HELPING US GROW GREATER EVERY YEAR

- 1.—WE WILL sell for cash only, thereby eliminating all costs of book-keeping, credit systems, extra office expenses, and losses through bad accounts.
- 2.—WE WILL buy for cash only in the open market, taking advantage of all discounts and trends of the market, and we will not be dominated by manufacturers through selling one brand exclusively.
- 3.—WE WILL turn our stock rapidly; requiring only a small profit on each turnover; but accelerating the movement of stocks to make the profits more frequent.
- 4.—WE WILL have no elaborate fixtures, plate-glass trimmings or velvet carpets, which would add to the price of clothing but not to the quality.
- 5.—WE WILL give no trading stamps, souvenirs, discounts or "free deals." Just the lowest price to everyone and the same price to all.
- 6.—WE WILL specialize only in clothing, thereby becoming experts in our field; and using our skill in making the proper selections, and keeping the prices low and the quality high.
- 7.—WE WILL constantly strive to offer the public "Better Clothes for Less Money."

Unusual Tales Of Adventure, Tragedy, Mystery, Humor From Real Life

A MATTER OF PROTOPLASM.
By Robert Welles Ritchie.

A SCIENTIST who has the ability to talk in words of one syllable for the benefit of Dumb Alecks like myself once told me that biologists had discovered protoplasm must be subject to frequent and sudden changes of temperature to achieve its best growth. Protoplasmic tissue destined to live only in an equable temperature had a way of deteriorating he said, or, at least, of standing still in slow ferment of dissolution.

So let this be the story of the protoplasmic deterioration of a man we'll call Hicks; and how he proved a scientific theorem.

First to dress the stage: Let it be the island of Hawaii away off there in the Pacific. A veritable God's Garden, despite all the reams of copy written by all the secretaries of chambers of commerce in California and Florida. Jungles of ferns there. Begonia plants growing to the size of trees, with their jeweled sprays of blossoms dropping like the Tiffany ruby clusters. In the forests of Koa a strange star-like purple blossom which lights up the gloom like the reflection from stained glass in the nave of a great cathedral. And little winds—soft little winds coming right off the coral reefs of a thousand miles of South Seas; they move like the prelude to a Bach symphony over the acres of sugar cane and up along the gentle slopes of Mona Kea, the dead volcano, to lose themselves in a wilderness of beauty.

Life is soft there on Hawaii and seductive. And the browns and ated profession. There are, you see, so many yellows and browns and chromatic variants from those two fast colors the teacher has his work cut out for him. "Americanization" in a word to conjure with out yonder, Russians and Japanese, Koreans, Filipinos, Chinese and even Fijians with kinky hair—a fine forkful for any theorist in the science of education to swallow.

They told me there in Hilo, which is the principal island town, how Hicks lived for two years out in the plantation country, working with his school seven days a week when five were all the School Commission required; working, I should explain, to get beneath the exterior tan of the yellows and the browns so that he might carry up-lift even into the homes of the sugar workers.

Picture to yourself the protoplasmic energy of this New Englander, born in a cold and bleak country, and, perhaps, reared in a cold and bleak code. Conceive of his manifold efforts over two years to whip into some sort of aliveness the torpid souls of Japanese and Russians and Fijians, scholar and parents alike. Living practically alone, mind you—I do not give the name of the village; it would mean little to you—alone with his o'er-reaching ideals and that consuming zealot's fire burning—burning hot within him.

Where I writing fiction instead of brutal fact, I would be required to fill in a lot of space here; something about the sighing music of guitars and the notes of love song coming down the soft winds of nights to where Hicks sat alone in his bungalow under the banana palms. But remember this is science, not fiction.

With a Harvard education and 200 years of tradition behind him, our New England friend threw himself, with a zealot's fervor, into which his scholastic training had fitted him. That was teaching.

Teaching in Hawaii is a complicated profession. There are, you see, so many yellows and browns and chromatic variants from those two fast colors the teacher has his work cut out for him. "Americanization" in a word to conjure with out yonder, Russians and Japanese, Koreans, Filipinos, Chinese and even Fijians with kinky hair—a fine forkful for any theorist in the science of education to swallow.

belonging to a worker in the sugar cane. Pretty; I can attest to that, for I have seen her.

She nursed Emerson T. Hicks given him a deep knife wound in the shoulder. And—well, they are living together now on the opposite side of the island. She does the work and Hicks does the drinking.

He was just a little boy:
No doubt just another bad little boy,
To most people,
But he was my son's son
And that made him an unusual

To me.
So I established a Trust Fund
At the Mercantile came In the family

After I had to quit,
But the money could not be

His education is finished.
I knew it would be

"Cowboy Bandit" Given Life Term.
KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 24.—Ernest P. Vonner, known as the "cowboy bandit," was sentenced to life imprisonment yesterday, for the death of Joseph L. Beeman, 19 years old. Beeman was killed when robbers attempted to hold up his father's grocery store.

KIRBY DENIES PINE LUMBER MEN VIOLATED THE LAW
By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, April 24.—A denial that the Southern Pine Association had ever engaged in practices constituting violation of the anti-trust laws, or that it sought under former Attorney-General Daugherty's administration of the Department of Justice to delay Government prosecution on such charges, was issued yesterday by John H. Kirby of Houston, Tex., president of the organization in 1923. Kirby's statement challenged testimony placed before the Senate Daugherty investigating committee Tuesday by Houston Thompson, chairman of the Federal Trade Commission.

"The insinuation that there has ever been any kind of price fixation within the body of the Southern Pine Association or any attempt to curtail production by agreement of manufacturers is an absolute fabrication out of whole cloth, without a single fact to support it," Kirby said. "Any insinuation, statement, inference or suggestion that there is now or ever has been among yellow pine manufacturers in the association any agreement as to prices or price lists, or any other agreement in conflict with the anti-trust statutes of the United States, is a deliberate falsehood."

A Government suit instituted in 1921 against the Southern Pine Association, Kirby said, was met by unrelenting efforts of the association to get the issue brought to trial. Officials of the Department of Justice were urged on many occasions to expedite the proceeding, his statement said, and have now agreed to give the association a trial this summer. Testimony before the committee that yellow pine is now selling at war prices and higher, he said, illustrated "utter recklessness with the truth."

Legend of White Settlement Here In 1700 Proved True by Records

Priest Submits Evidence Showing Village of Tamaroa, at Mouth of Des Peres, Was First to Be Established by Whites in Missouri.

On the north bank of the mouth of the River Des Peres, once stood the village of Tamaroa, the first white settlement in Missouri. Established in 1700, its population consisting mainly of Indians who had adopted the Christian faith, it remained but three years, when its people moved to a point 60 miles south on the Illinois side. Today the site is a part of the City of St. Louis and there is no physical evidence to indicate the spot where the village once stood, but the Rev. Gilbert J. Garraghan, S. J., of St. Louis University, last night submitted to the Missouri Historical Society, evidence to indicate Tamaroa as the earliest white settlement in Missouri. His findings have been accepted by the society as authoritative. The people of Tamaroa were principally Indians of the Kaskaskia tribe, converted by the Jesuit Father Marquette on the Illinois River. They came to the River Des Peres site in 1700, where they were joined by French from Cahokia across the river, and the Tamaroa Indians of that district, from which tribe the village took its name. In Quebec last year, Father Garraghan saw the record of the death of Father Francis Pinet, Jesuit missionary, at Tamaroa on Aug. 1, 1702, the first death recorded in Missouri. He also saw letters from Father Bergier, priest at Cahokia, written to the Bishop at Quebec, in which he spoke of trips to Tamaroa and told of celebrating at the funeral of Father Pinet. The letters of Father Bergier are the only conclusive evidence of the existence of Tamaroa. Father Garraghan says, with the exception of De La Salle map, made in about the year 1705, which marks a village at this point. No reason for the exodus of the people of Tamaroa has ever been found, and the evidence available indicates the population was about 1200. The Des Peres, it is believed, was named before their arrival by Jesuit missionaries. It means "The River of the Fathers."

LEADERS SAY HOUSE CAN END SESSION ON JUNE 1

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, April 24.—House Republican leaders informed President Coolidge today that the House was approaching conclusion of consideration of constructive legislation and that as far as that body was concerned Congress would be able to adjourn June 1. Those conferring with the President included Representative Longworth of Ohio, the majority leader; Speaker Gillett, Chairman Snell of the rules committee and Chairman Madden of the appropriations committee. The program for the immediate future as outlined to the President and approved by him provides for consideration of the child labor constitutional amendment, the remaining appropriations bills, which are largely of a deficiency nature, and farm relief legislation. Chief concern of the leaders after enactment of farm legislation, they said, would be to state off bills described by the President recently as "determined assaults on the public Treasury by organized minorities."

ACTION ON COURTHOUSE SITE MAY BE FORCED

Alderman Krueger Introduces Bill to Designate Site.
The Board of Aldermen today faces the prospect of being speedily forced, against its will, to determine the site for the new courthouse. With the intention of compelling action by the Board Alderman Krueger, Twenty-fourth ward, today introduced a bill designating the Plaza site. It will be recalled that the board on April 4, after members attended a dinner in their honor the previous evening, given by downtown business men who favor building the new courthouse on or near the present site, voted to refer back to the Site Committee, a bill designating the Plaza site. That is the block, now owned by the city, bounded by Twelfth boulevard, Chestnut, Eleventh and Market streets. That bill died with sine die adjournment of the board at the end of the fiscal year two weeks ago. Alderman Krueger expects his bill to be referred to the same site committee. "If the committee has not reported it back within 30 days," he said, "I will invoke my right as author of the bill to call it from the committee and demand a vote of the Board," he said. "Information I have received from Circuit Clerk Schmoll and others in position to know the facts indicates necessity for speedy erection of the new courthouse. I see no reason why its construction should be delayed five or six years. I consider it a blot on the Board that it recently voted to postpone determination of the site." When the Board killed the other bill President Neut and Chairman Udell of the Site Committee explained there was no necessity for action at this time, since the courthouse could not be constructed under the bond issue program, for five or six years. The Board's action was thought to have relieved Mayor Kiel of necessity of approving or vetoing a site measure prior to the mayoralty contest next spring.

BALDWIN CRITICISES FREIGHT RATE PLAN

Missouri Pacific Head Says Idea Is Case of Robbing
"Peter to Pay Paul."

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
ALEXANDRIA, La., April 24.—Proposed reductions of freight rates on farm products and other so-called basic commodities with increases on other classes of freight are, in effect, plans for "robbing Peter to pay Paul," L. W. Baldwin, president of the Missouri-Pacific Railroad Co., said in an address here yesterday before the Louisiana Bankers' Association.

The transportation act of 1920 is the most constructive bit of railroad legislation in a century, he said, adding, "It provides for the first time a systematic method of rate making."

"We are hearing many arguments for a revision of freight rates with a view to favoring so-called basic commodities with lower rates," Baldwin said. "Most of those persons advocating rate reductions on so-called basic commodities—and by that in most cases they mean agricultural products—admit that such reductions cannot be forced at the expense of the railroads. They insist upon the reductions, however, and insist that the railroads be compensated with relatively increased rates on other classes of freight."

"In order to consider that question intelligently we must remember that 75.7 per cent of the total amount of freight handled by the railroads is made up of these so-called basic commodities. While these basic materials make up such a large percentage of the total volume they now provide only 65.7 per cent of the revenue."

"Those theorists who propose to help farmers and others by reducing freight rates on basic commodities overlook the fact that the people they are attempting to help must buy as well and the things they buy will, of necessity, be priced so as to include the proposed compensatory increases in freight rates. This would, in effect, be 'robbing Peter to pay Paul' so far as the favored class is concerned. The effect on the remainder of the country can only be guessed at."

"While it is true that the quoted values on agricultural products have not recovered, in some instances, to the extent that other values have recovered, I do not believe the agriculture of our country is in such dire straits as some of the professional agitators would have us believe. As a matter of fact the total value of all agricultural products, according to figures of the United States Department of Agriculture, was $100,000,000 more last December than the total a year before. It is true, of course, that the price of wheat and some other farm products was relatively lower, but the amount of wheat harvested and those other products which suffered in price were relatively greater."

"Freight rates were not, in any way, responsible for the decrease in the price of wheat any more than they were responsible for the increase in the price of corn. During the last six months of 1933 the total value of the wheat crop decreased approximately $300,000,000 while the total value of the corn crop increased approximately $100,000,000 and during that period there was no change whatever in the freight rate on either commodity."

5 Operations—15 years suffering with constipation—Kellogg's Bran restores health

Mr. Lansing's case is typical of thousands of others. He found permanent relief from constipation in Kellogg's Bran because it is ALL bran. Nothing but ALL bran can be 100 per cent effective. Read what he says:

Dear Sir:
I have been afflicted with constipation for the past 15 years, and during that time I have been in four different hospitals and submitted to five different operations that were the result of constipation. I was getting so bad that every meal I ate caused me to vomit. Two months ago I was advised to eat your Kellogg's Bran. I tried it, and as I was trying everything I could, I was told that day on I have never taken a physic. My stomach does not ache any more and my bowels move regularly morning and evening. Yours sincerely, Frank Lansing,

1306 Jetties Ave., Marion, Ind.

For permanent relief, eat Kellogg's Bran regularly. Two tablespoonfuls daily—in chronic cases, with every meal. It is guaranteed to bring results, or your grocer will return your money.

You will like the delicious nut-like flavor of Kellogg's Bran—so different from ordinary bran, which are unpalatable. Eat Kellogg's Bran with milk or cream. Sprinkle it over other cereals. Cook it with hot cereals. Try it in the recipes given on the package. Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, is served by leading hotels and clubs in individual packages. Made in Battle Creek. Sold by all grocers.

Kresge Marriage Still Mystery.
By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, April 24.—A search of records in the marriage license bureau yesterday showed that S. S. Kresge of Detroit, wealthy owner of chain stores, and Miss Boris Mercer of this city, whose marriage has been rumored, obtained a license here April 16. Kresge gave his age as 35 and his occupation as a merchant. Miss Mercer's age was given as 31. At that time Kresge was reported to have said it was his and Miss Mercer's intention to be married the following day. Miss Mercer, however, has refused any statement and her friends also have refused either to confirm or deny the marriage report.

This kind of tragedy can never happen to you if you use Larvex—the new, scientific way to make every woolen thread you own absolutely mothproof.

BEWILDERED AT NEWS FIANCE HAS A WIFE

Mrs. Sadie Sparks Not Sure What to Do About Engagement to B. F. Fenn.

"That poor girl doesn't know what she's running into," says Mrs. Margaret Fenn of 7036 Dale avenue.

Bert F. Fenn, attorney, with offices in the Central National Bank Building, who was meant by "what that poor girl is running into," has nothing to say.

"That poor girl," Mrs. Sadie Sparks of 6774 Cabanne place, is frankly in a state of bewilderment since she learned, when Fenn sued for divorce April 10 at Clayton, that the wife he had referred to as "an angel" was on earth.

Quered by "Angel" Statement.

"It was when he introduced his son to me that I first made reference to a wife," Mrs. Sparks explained. "He said solemnly, 'She is an angel.' I thought one was, but drop the subject? Whenever I said anything after that about his wife he would say she was an angel, and I could not pry into that."

Mrs. Sparks has been about two years ago when he was attorney in a stock transaction in which she was interested. She and her former husband, an East St. Louis mule dealer, had been divorced, and her parents had set her up in the Cabanne place residence.

"I went everywhere with him," she said. "Everybody I knew in St. Louis knew I was going with him. I had introduced him to my family and all my relatives and in-laws. She said Fenn had given her a watch as an engagement gift. She isn't sure what she will do about the engagement now; she might be disinherited if she married again."

Negress Discusses Case.

Mrs. Sparks' housegirl, an Alabama negress, left her oiled mop against the wall in the next room and stood in the doorway, her features showing excitement beneath a red bandanna and behind spectacles which had slid away. "That mess about Mrs. Sparks is just a pack of lies," she said. "I know! Mrs. Sparks long a-fore she knewed Mr. Fenn, and I know she's a good woman."

Perhaps Mrs. Sparks wanted her to stop. Maybe even Margaret Fenn wanted to stop, but she folded her hands righteously and charged on, helpless in the grip of a good intention.

"That time they say Mrs. Sparks' son tried to shoot Mrs. Fenn—The young man wanted his mother's car, and she told him he couldn't have it, because he'd broke up four or five cars a-ready. If it hadn't been for me'n Ollis Mrs. Sparks and her two daughters might all a-been shot the day before."

"Come in Leapin' Drunk."

"He came in that night leaping drunk. Mr. Fenn and Mrs. Fenn and brother-in-law, Mr. Grover Sparks, and his wife and some young people was here and Mr. Fenn took a gun away from the boy and talked to him like he was his father—told him he was the head of his family, and ought to protect his family, instead of scaring them to death."

"And that car was given to Mrs. Sparks by her mother, so she could take the girls to school, and keep them from catching pneumonia in the winter time, and her from taking tuberculosis from stayin' in so much."

Mrs. Fenn says she will contest the divorce and endeavor to obtain separate maintenance. "My son used to tell me that his father left him where they transferred from the City Limits line to the University-Olive in the mornings, and would get in an automobile with some woman and let my boy go to St. Louis University on the street car," she said.

"My son's friends told him of meeting a 'Mrs. Fenn' with my husband at hotel dining and in gardens and the like when I was at home. My son died in January a year ago, and then I had nobody to look out for me."

"For 17 months my husband has not been coming home to supper. I heard he kept an automobile and that woman drove him home to her house for supper in it, so one night I went to his office—the first time I ever was there. I asked him to take me to get the Ford, and he said it was in the garage. I suggested the other machine, and then the street car. He walked me clear to 42nd west, just because I crossed him. That was last November, and he never came home after that. A detective learned the woman's name for me last month."

What Is Neuritis?

Neuritis is an inflammation of the nerves that produces sharp, darting pain very similar to that of rheumatism. In fact, the disease is often mistaken for rheumatism and treated as such, with the result that the sufferer gets no lasting benefit.

Neuritis is usually brought on by colds, injuries, bruises, nervous exhaustion, malaria, poisoning or infectious diseases. The pain may be confined to one spot or it may move from place to place. Sometimes it is accompanied by soreness in the muscles, numbness in the hands or feet, lame back, stiff joints, eye strain or severe headaches.

The only way to obtain permanent, lasting relief is to heal the affected nerves—get rid of the inflammation. Epsa Neuritis Tablets are compounded for that very purpose. Harmless, pleasant and effective. A trial package will convince you. Price $1.00.

POLITICIAN FINED $600 UNDER DRY LAW

Henry Struetker Smiles at $100 Assessment, but $500 "Chaser" Spoils All.

Henry Struetker, Democratic City Committeeman for the Ninth Ward, contends he has been wronged. The liquor violation charge was decidedly an injustice, but why argue about it? He might as well plead guilty and get it over. So before Federal Judge Davis today he pleaded guilty on two counts of violating the Volstead act. His attorney, former Circuit Attorney Lawrence McDaniel, explained Struetker's case. He argued it was illegal when the police without a warrant raided the home at 2446A Salena street and seized 2446 pints of home-brewed beer, just because of a tip that "there was something interesting there." The case wouldn't stand up in State court, so the police passed it on to Federal agents, he declared. But his client would rather pay a fine than bother with a trial.

$100 and a Chaser. Judge Davis pondered. "I believe Mr. Struetker is entitled to some consideration," he said. "I'll fine him $100 for the possession of intoxicating liquor." At which point Struetker smiled broadly.

"And $500 for the manufacture of liquor," the Judge added, and the smile vanished. Struetker paid and departed.

It was not brought out why the politician was brewing beer at home in such large quantities, but some experienced politicians said they wouldn't be surprised if there were a large number of political cohorts in his ward who looked to him as leader. For substantial thrifteners in these dry times.

Herman Barthold, who owns Barthold's Grove, on the Manchester road, pleaded guilty to a second offense. Judge Davis fined him $1500 and assessed a 30-day jail sentence.

Then Louis Boverl, whose saloon at 1466 South Grand boulevard was raided by Federal agents, came up. He had sold out and was eager to get back to Italy. "I am glad to hear you are going back to Italy," Judge Davis remarked, "but I want you to leave $250 with the Marshal before you leave."

Henry Struetker, 2446A Salena street, Democratic City Committeeman from the Ninth Ward, pleaded guilty in order to get his case out of the way. His attorney declared it was illegal when police entered his home without a warrant and seized 2446 pints of home-brewed beer, but rather than argue about it, his client would plead guilty. Judge Davis smiled and that he thought Struetker entitled to some consideration and then assessed two fines—$100 for possession and $500 for manufacture of liquor.

The $1500 bond of Edward (Red) Powers, former Egan gangster, was declared forfeit, when his attorney, Tom Rowe Jr., said he had seen nothing of his client since he took the case. Edward and Theodore Miller and Lester Davis, jointly charged with Powers, will be tried by a jury during the day.

DESIGNER OF DOLLAR SIGN OVER CHURCH DOOR DEAD
B. G. Goodhue Also Was Architect of Nebraska Capitol and Wrote "Mexican Memories."

NEW YORK, April 24.—Arrangements were made today for the funeral of Bertram G. Goodhue, New York architect, who designed the Nebraska State Capitol and who was one of the most prominent exponents of the skyscraper building in New York. He died suddenly of heart attack.

Goodhue, who was 55, was born in Pomfret, Conn., April 23, 1869. He was made a Fellow of the American Institute of Architects in 1917 and later a member of the National Institute of Arts and Letters.

He attracted considerable attention as the designer of the dollar sign over the door of St. Thomas Church, New York. The design, part of an emblem to portray the types of life of Fifth avenue and hidden in a maze of Gothic engraving on the door, aroused some indignation among many of the clergy and churchgoers, who, when they discovered the design, protested that it was false in spirit. In addition to many magazine articles, Goodhue was author of "Mexican Memories."

MAN IS FOUND DEAD BEFORE GAS STOVE IN HOME
Wife of Assistant Manager of Dairy Company Says Husband Was Depressed.

The body of Thomas Feeney, 29 years old, assistant manager of a St. Louis Dairy Co. branch, was found before a gas stove with all burners turned on but unlighted in his home at 2398 Stoddard avenue at 9 o'clock last night. A towel was wrapped around his head.

His wife, Vera, said her husband had been depressed following the death Monday of his brother, James, and especially so since the funeral yesterday. Alarmed at his absence from her mother's home, where he had left her and their two small children in the afternoon, with the remark that he "would be back for dinner," she was on her way home when the body was found.

Justice Thompson Quits. Justice of the Peace G. W. Thompson of Wood River, gave up his job as Justice yesterday in disgust. He still clings to his job in the Standard Oil Refinery. In delivering his records to County Clerk Joseph Hatx at Edwardsville, Thompson said when he was busy at the refinery he was always called into his court, and when he had time for the court there was no business for the latter.

The Browns Succeeded in Subduing Lyons; But the Cards Were Unable to Tame Those Cubs

Browns Show Fine Punch, Field Brilliantly and Beat Sox; Sisler Gets 3 Hits

Team Collects 16 Safeties Off Lyons and Leverette—Hubert Pruet Relieves Danforth and His Fadeaway Baffles Chicago Batters—White Sox Defense Falters Under Fire.

By Dent McKimming.

Sixteen hits for nine runs tell the story of Browne's retribution. "We'll get going and when we do, look out." This was the prediction of Sisler's players when they were in the depths of a very serious batting slump. They pointed for the opening day game at Sportman's Park and yesterday was his day.

Ted Lyons and Gorman Leverette, Chicago's pitchers, were battered hard. Brownies who had not hit in the pinch for more than a week came through with ringing singles and doubles. In the field they played errorless ball and the grand result of such performance was a 9-to-5 triumph.

Chicago partisans will tell the story in a different tone. They will say that Lyons and Leverette didn't have a thing on the ball and they will say the White Sox defense was full of holes. It is true, however, that the Browns were in great hitting form.

Sisler Gets Three Safeties.

George Sisler's fine batting exhibition was one of the most pleasing things about the exhibition. He was given a fine reception by the 14,000 fans who, despite the record of six straight defeats, cheered lustily at the first sign of a Browne rally. Sisler responded by driving out three hits, scoring two runs, stealing a base and fielding perfectly.

In view of the fact that Sisler obtained only one hit in three games at Detroit leads one to wonder what happened to restore his batting punch. "I guess I just wasn't hitting the ball up there in Detroit. I don't believe the background in center field had anything to do with it. It was just meeting the ball better today," said George after the game. Dave Danforth's failure to go the full distance furnished food for worry at one stage of the game. However, his removal from the box gave Hubert Pruet an opportunity to prove to the fans that his fadeaway is as deceptive as ever. Danforth was removed from the box in the fifth inning after the Sox had obtained six hits and five runs in one round.

Pruett Never in Danger.

Pruett came in and retired Kamm on a pop fly. He was never in danger thereafter, for he held the Sox to three hits in his four and one-third innings. It was evident that Danforth has satisfied the umpires that he is not "fingering" the ball, for there was no move at any time to scrutinize the ball. Eddie Collins gave a ball a very thorough inspection as he walked past the pitcher's box in the fourth inning, but he seemed convinced that there was nothing wrong.

Urban Shocker's Father Is Dead

Browns' Pitcher, Ill, Unable to Reach Parent Before the End.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CLEVELAND, O., April 24.—Death of William Shocker, 70, father of Urban Shocker, St. Louis Browns pitcher, here this afternoon will indefinitely postpone Shocker's return to the team, which he had expected to rejoin today.

Shocker, Ill at a Hotel Here with Tomorrow's Game.

Shocker, ill at a hotel here with tomorrow's game, was unable to reach his father's bedside. He will remain here until after the funeral at least.

Breaks Were Well Earned.

Those breaks, so-called, were not undeserved. The St. Louis defense was at all times superior to that of Chicago. Herschel Bennett, substituting in left field for Ken Williams, carried off the killing honors of the day when he ran to the far corner of his territory, leaped into the air and pulled down a hard drive by Ted Lyons in the seventh inning. Jerber scooped up more than one potential hit behind second base and Sisler converted several bad throws into putouts.

McClellan, the White Sox Shortstop, Earned the Praise of the Crowd.

McClellan, the White Sox shortstop, earned the praise of the crowd when he came in fast for Gerber's short pop fly in the second inning, took it on a pick-up with one hand, and tossed out the runner, retiring the side. McClellan was sweating across the plate at the time so that McClellan cut off at least one run.

Those Cubs Hurlers Put Club at Advantage; Enemy Too Early and Often

By Herman Wecke.
The Post-Dispatch Staff.
That Cardinal pitching staff is still the way of the club in the National League pennant race. The Cardinals "down" after the first two innings. The Cubs have been ahead just once, and the score was tied.

It was in the band box that the Cardinals won the game in so far as the Cubs are concerned. Cardinals are concerned with the pitching of Lou North. The "faced" right-hander went to the hill in the third and he remained there for five rounds. In that time one safety was made off him, and he gave a real exhibition of hurling the fourth, when with three men out, he struck out Fritzsche for five runs. In that time he scored 12. In the eighth he scored 13. In the eighth he scored 13. In the eighth he scored 13.

Keen was a Good Pitcher. Johnny Stuart worked one inning with no success. With two men out, Grantham, who is hitting around .450, punched one to the sun in the right field. It was a real home run.

The lone run off Keen came in the ninth, when Bottomley punched one to right center for two runs and Freigau followed with a single.

Allan Sothoron Today. The chances are that Allan Sothoron, the former Brownie, will make his first appearance of the season on the hill. The second game of the series this afternoon. If Rickey switches, Bill Dook will have starred in the role of "saver" this year will get the assignment. Elmer Jacobs, once a Cardinal, is due for the Braves. Whether the shift of Lavan, Blades will stick, Rickey will not announce last night.

THREE AMERICAN "PROS" TO SEEK BRITISH TITLE. By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, April 24.—Three American professional golfers will sail June 11 for England to seek honors in the British open championship. They are Walter Hagen, former holder of the British title, who finished second in last year's tourney; MacDonald Smith, who was third in the 1922 British event; and Gene Sarazen, P. G. A. champion.

It Appears That Our Mr. Rickey Is Having a Tough Time Making Good as a Stock Salesman

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, April 24.—The 12-round bout at Madison Square Garden May 9 between Quintin Romero-Rojas, Chilean heavyweight, and Floyd Johnson, Iowa heavyweight, for which articles were signed yesterday, will not be cancelled to permit Luis Angel Firpo, South American champion, to get first chance at the Chilean. Tex Rickard declared today.

"If Firpo wants to fight Rojas here, I may arrange the bout later on, provided that the Chilean defeats Johnson," Rickard added.

"The Chilean papers say I am afraid of him. I can't stand that. I will go to the United States and fight Rojas provided he fights no one else until he meets me. I want to be the first to knock him out."

"I am willing to go and fight him without a guarantee. His defiance of me is the only reason I have for changing my mind. Regarding Willis and Dempsey, I am not thinking of them."

Horns declared he had no intention of Firpo's feeling regarding Rojas until Luis Angel telephoned him last night.

ILLINOIS NET TEAM MEETS PURDUE SQUAD. Special to the Post-Dispatch. URBANA, Ill., April 24.—Coach Bear's University of Illinois tennis team will open the conference season Saturday by clashing with Purdue University.

M. K. Dubach and W. M. Goodwillie, conference champions last season, are the only veterans on the Illinois team this season. These men played three practice tilts with the University of Kansas and Missouri during the last week-end, winning over Missouri by coping with the two singles matches and also the doubles match. In two meets with Kansas they split even.

The showing of the Illinois veterans was only mediocre, according to Coach Bear and much improvement will be necessary if the Illinois are to be strong contenders in the Big Ten Conference race.

Too Many Trials Killed Off Zuna; System Is Wrong

By Lawrence Perry. (Copyright, 1924.)
NEW YORK, April 24.—Frank Zuna, according to a story which has an official tone, has "cooked himself" as an Olympic first-string marathon prospect because he ran three full distance marathons within three weeks.

If this is true, it would not be surprising. Three 26-mile runs in as many weeks is taxing the human system pretty rigidly. Flesh and blood can stand only so much.

Yet Zuna's plight—if such is his plight—is one that is likely to be repeated among Eastern Olympic candidates before the tryout system is completed and candidates selected. This is because a majority of the star performers now relied upon to win points at Paris reside in the East and will thus meet one another in the Eastern tryouts.

Many Tryouts to Hag Easterners. Rigorous competition is bound to ensue and when the leading Westerners come on here from their sectional tryouts, they are likely to find a bunch of Eastern performers who are fagged and not up to their best because of the dog-eat-dog contests in this section.

As a consequence it is not so certain that those who are really best qualified to perform great feats on track and field will be in condition to show their wares.

In other words, a bunch of Olympic selections which are not up to the best we could produce under ordinary conditions, may be expected.

This, of course, is more or less a theoretic danger; none the less it is a situation that might be well worth watching.

Pat Page Has "Schoolboy Wonder." Speaking of track stars they have a young freshman named Phillips out at Butler in Indiana who promises to do mighty things.

Recently he defeated Jule Ray at Louisville in the 880-yards run, although he had not run the distance before this year. As a schoolboy he won the national interscholastic half.

Pat Page, the Butler trainer, seems to be justified that he has a coming star in this youngster.

WEST POINT POLO TEAM PREPARES FOR TOURNEY. Special to the Post-Dispatch. NEW YORK, April 24.—Major A. H. ("Jingle") Wilson, hero of the British-American Army international polo matches at Meadow Brook last fall, and one of the finest forwards in the game, will coach the West Point polo team in preparation for the intercollegiate championship tournament at Fort Hamilton, Bay Ridge, Brooklyn, which begins on May 2.

West Point will meet the hard-riding Cornell team in the first match of the tournament, and it is expected that the Cadet four will prove a decided improvement over the Army team which entered the forest intercollegiate championships last spring.

After a strenuous season of indoor polo the Cadets have developed a fast, well-balanced combination that should give Yale and the other topnotchers a hard tussle for the Eastern college title and the right to meet the Western teams that are coming here for a challenge series with our best college teams.

The West Point mallet wielders also have a particularly strong string of mounts to draw from, and probably will hold an advantage over many of the contending fours in clever, speedy points.

OHIO WESLEYAN LAYS OUT 3 FOOTBALL FIELDS. Special to the Post-Dispatch. DELAWARE, O., April 24.—Ohio Wesleyan varsity athletes will have three football fields and two baseball diamonds available for use by next fall as a result of the action taken by the University Athletic Association at its meeting Saturday providing for improvement of Odene Field, adjoining the campus.

Ground is to be prepared at once for two football practice fields and a baseball diamond for general practice use.

Nelson Vigor, Marion; Raymond Kahle, Lima; Herbert Frazer, Magnetic Springs; and Wilbur Willman, Plain City, have been awarded minor sports letters for work on the gym team and Roger Addison, Columbus, and John Murlin, Rochester, N. Y., for varsity swimming.

Andrew S. Thomas, Charleston, W. Va., was elected basketball manager for next season.

UNITED STATES ENTERS 16 OLYMPIC SPORTS. NEW YORK, April 24.—Entry of the United States is assured in 16 of the 19 branches of 1924 Olympic competition, according to the American Olympic Committee's plans, thus forecasting the greatest combined attack this country's athletic forces ever have launched for international honors. There is a possibility that America may make the list complete by also entering the Greco-Roman wrestling, weight lifting and yachting, but this has not yet been determined.

The next features on the Olympic program in France are rugby, May 2 to 19; soccer football, May 15 to June 3; and polo, June 19 to July 4, and entries for each of these already have been forwarded.

The main body of competitors is booked to embark for a campaign of conquest on June 16, and will include the track and field squad,

Principia Enters State Track Meet

St. Louis Athletics Will Compete in Junior College Division.
Special to the Post-Dispatch. COLUMBIA, Mo., April 24.—Principia Academy of St. Louis will enter a team in the Junior College class of the annual high school day track and field meet, which will be held here at the University of Missouri May 3, according to word received from the academy today. Principia is the first St. Louis district entry to be received.

Although entry blanks are just beginning to come in, these already received indicate a meet of unusually high-class. Lagrange College is the only other school so far to enter the Junior College class, though the Kemper, Wentworth, Missouri Military Academy and several others are expected.

Kansas City Northeast, Nevada Joplin and Mexico have already entered the class composed of schools with an enrollment exceeding 250. Camden, Mendon, California, Bellflower, Polo Gilman and Vandalia have indicated their intention to enter the division composed of smaller schools.

CLEVELAND GETS 1925 WOMEN'S TENPIN EVENT. INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., April 24.—Bowlers from Rockford, Ill.; Dayton, O.; Omaha, Neb.; Chicago, Ill.; Cleveland, Toledo, Indianapolis, Detroit and St. Louis took the alleys today in the women's national bowling tournament.

Yesterday's play in the tournament resulted in changes in the standing of leaders in the singles and doubles. Miss Burnett Snider and Miss Velma Myers of Cleveland rolled 1088 for second place in the singles and Mrs. M. Watson and Mrs. C. Fay, Cleveland, rolled 1086 for third place. Mrs. Martha Scott, Cleveland, took second in the singles with 569, and Mrs. Della Burton, Detroit, third with 566.

Mrs. Jean Kneppath, Milwaukee, was elected president of the Woman's National Bowling Association and Cleveland selected as next year's tournament city at a meeting.

CIONI QUALIFIES FOR TWO-MILE ROLLER FINAL

Rolan Cioni, former champion roller skater, qualified for the grand final of the championship series at the Palladium by winning the two-mile feature of last night's races. Cioni's victory did not come as a surprise to local skating enthusiasts, as he had shown splendid form in all previous elimination and qualifying heats of the titular series. In last night's race he sprinted into the lead about three laps before the finish and crossed the tape about 29 feet ahead of his nearest rival Cliff Howard, the Pacific Coast champion, finished second. Ray Davis of St. Louis landed third place, trailing Howard by less than an arm length. The winner's time was 6m. 28s.

The one-mile trial heats were the most interesting events of last night's program. Cioni won the first heat in 2m. 37s. Ray Davis and Al Cookson finished second and third, respectively. The second trial event was won by Cliff Howard in 2m. 58s. Henry Thomas of Cleveland finished second and Ross Wheatley of Washington, Pa., third.

MYRICK DECLINES TO DISCUSS TILDEN AFFAIR

NEW YORK, April 24.—Julian F. Myrick, chairman of the Davis Cup Committee of the United States Lawn Tennis Association, declined yesterday to comment upon William T. Tilden's rejection of an invitation to further discuss his amateur status with the committee here tomorrow, but intimated that no further steps were contemplated at present in the controversy growing out of Tilden's player-writer activities.

Tilden's amateur status, it was further pointed out, was a question for the amateur rule and not the Davis Cup Committee to decide. So far as the latter body is concerned, he is eligible for Davis Cup Olympic games competition this year, as the player-writer rule does not go into effect until next January.

The fourth qualifying race and preliminary trials will be held tonight. Rodney Peters and Richard Molenaar of St. Louis, and Cioni, who hails from Akron, O., are the men who have qualified to date.

Millions Use It - Few Cents buys Jar at Drugstore

Even stubborn, unruly or shamed hair stays combed all day in any style you like. "Hair-Groom" is greaseless; also helps grow thick, heavy lustrous hair. Beware of greasy, harmful imitations.

Sure Way to Get Rid of Dandruff

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely and that is to dissolve it. Then you destroy it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips. By morning, most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and have never been known to fall.

CLOSE IRREGULAR ON STOCK MARKET; LIBERTIES HIGHER

Range of Prices Generally Higher Until Near Close When Selling Is Encountered—Foreign Exchange Irregular.

By Leased Wire from the New York Bureau of the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, April 24.—The stock market today was characterized by a range of prices generally higher until near close when selling was encountered. Foreign exchange was irregular.

A better sentiment and continued short covering which was not, however, on a large scale, kept the stock market firm during the greater part of the day. Points running from fractions to a point or two were achieved during the first four hours. A poor earning statement by Southern Pacific was seized on as an excuse for a last hour drive on that issue, which resulted in a marked recession in the rest of the list. The closing was irregularly higher with total sales running up to about 700,000 shares. Liberty Bonds continued to establish new highs for the year and other descriptions in this department were steady. Call money advanced at 4 per cent and was reduced to 3 1/2 per cent during the noon hour and to 3 1/4 per cent at 1:40. The latter figure is the lowest since March 17.

Exchange Market Irregular.
Developments in the foreign exchange market were more interesting. French and Belgian francs, after running up sharply on short covering, reacted with proportionate severity. The necessities of those who must cover before May 1 evidently were being greatly reduced. In any event, French francs dropped 2 1/2 points to 4.21 cents in an active first hour. Thereafter business slackened off and the price fell again to 4.21 cents. Sterling meanwhile recovered 1 cent to 4.37 cents, and then recovered 1 cent to 4.37 cents. The former neutrals were somewhat irregular, and on the whole, little changed. Japanese yen touched 23.40 cents in another sinking spell, but rallied well.

The better feeling in speculative circles on account of the rally in stocks and a firm market at Liverpool kept cotton prices steady. Good weather in the South and lack of signs of improvement in the cotton situation were restraining factors. Trading was comparatively inactive and the market plainly was in a trading position. After moving within a narrow range the May future was up 12 points at a late price of 35.15 cents.

The grain markets also produced little of a significant nature, traders still waiting to see what happens in the wheat market. May wheat was unchanged at $1.07.

Foreign Bank Statements.
Relatively small changes are revealed by this week's foreign bank statements. There has been no change in the total of the French Government's borrowings from the Bank of France. The latter's circulation is about 115,000,000 francs smaller. An increase of 1/4 of 1 per cent in the Bank of England's circulation of reserve leaves that figure at 150 per cent. Circulation is $21,000 smaller and deposit liabilities are about $1,000,000 larger.

THAW TO GO TO NEW YORK TO FACE WHIPPING CHARGE

Declares He Plans to Devote Rest of His Life to Caring for His Aged Mother.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. PHILADELPHIA, April 24.—Harry K. Thaw's first use of newly acquired freedom when it becomes actual will be to go to New York, he said today, and face the charge of whipping 15-year-old Frederick Gump Jr. of Kansas City. He plans to devote the rest of his life, he said, to caring for his 82-year-old mother at her home in Pittsburgh.

Thaw, noted in from the asylum late yesterday for a chat and luncheon with Mrs. Thaw at the Ritz-Carlton. "I am all packed up and ready to leave the hospital," he said. "They may delay my departure a little while the technicalities connected with approval of the verdict by Judge Monaghan are complied with."

Howard Irish, one of the trustees of Thaw's estate, announced in Pittsburgh today that no appeal from the verdict finding Thaw sane is contemplated by the trustees. Counsel representing Evelyn Nesbit said they were awaiting word from the trustees of the estate before taking further action regarding the appeal.

Dr. E. R. Kirby, Thaw's personal physician, said last night Thaw had under consideration plans to make financial provision for his divorced wife. He said Thaw harbors no ill-feeling against Miss Nesbit and frequently had discussed with him the matter of financial aid for her.

WASHINGTON AS ROMAN REMOVED FROM CAPITOL

—Underwood & Underwood.

A statue of George Washington, ordered by Congress in 1832 at a cost of $44,000, to be placed in the rotunda of the Capitol, now stands in an obscure position in the National Museum. It was too large for the rotunda, and for 50 years the queer statue of Washington, garbed as an ancient Roman, stood in front of the Capitol. It was thought by so many people to be hideous that it was removed to the museum from its place of prominence. The statue was made in Florence, Italy.

BREAD A Powerful Story of Today
By Charles G. Norris
(Copyright, 1924.)

CHAPTER SEVEN

A $50,000 paid-up insurance policy from a benevolent society had become hers at the time of her husband's death. It represented a nest egg, the thought of which had always been the greatest comfort to her. In sickness or in case of her death, the girls would have something; they would not be left absolutely destitute. She had never mentioned this policy to her daughters, always being afraid she might borrow on it, and many a time she had been sorely tempted to do so. With the knowledge of its existence unshared with anyone, Mrs. Sturgis felt herself equal to temptation; but once taking her children into her confidence, she feared she would soon weakly make inroads upon it.

Now, as Jeannette became restive and impatient for want of $50, her mother grew correspondingly depressed. It was to protect herself against just such wild-goose schemes as this, she told herself over and over, that she had refrained from telling her darlings anything about the money.

But events, unforeseen, and from her point of view, calamitous, robbed her of her fortitude, and forced her to play into her daughter's hands. Scarlet fever broke out in the neighborhood; an epidemic swept the upper West Side; the Wednesday and Saturday lessons—all of them—had to be discontinued; Miss Loughborough's school closed its doors. Mrs. Sturgis found some music to copy, but the money she earned in this way was far short of the meager income upon which she and her daughters had depended. The days stretched into weeks and still new cases were reported in the district. The time came when there was actual want in the little household, literally no money with which to buy food, and no further credit to be had among the tradespeople.

Jeannette applied for and secured the promise of a job in a small upholsterer's shop in the neighborhood at $6 a week, and in the face of her firm resolution to accept the offer and go to work on the following Monday morning, Mrs. Sturgis confessed her secret. As she had foreseen, Jeannette had little difficulty in persuading her—since now she would be compelled to borrow on her store—to make the amount of her loan $50 additional.

"Why, mamma, I'll be earning that much a month in 10 weeks, and I can pay it back to you in no time."

"I know—I know, dearie. But I just hate to do it."

Eventually, she gave way before her daughter's flood of arguments. It was what she had feared ever since Ralph died; there would be no stopping now the inroads upon her little capital; she saw the beginning of the end.

After the first few days, while she felt herself conspicuous as a new pupil, she began to enjoy herself immensely. The studies fascinated her. Hers was an alert mind and she was unusually intelligent. She had always been regarded as an exceptionally bright student, but she had achieved this reputation with little application. Her school work heretofore had represented merely "lessons" to her; it had never carried any significance. But now she threw herself with all the intensity of her nature upon what seemed to her a vital business. She realized she had only 10 weeks in which to master shorthand and typing, and at the end of that time would come the test of her ability to fill a position as stenographer. She dared not risk the humiliation of failure; her pride—the strongest element in her makeup—would not permit it. She must work, work, work; she must utilize every hour, every minute of these precious weeks of instruction!

The girl knew in her heart that she had many of the qualifications of a good secretary. She was pretty, she was well-mannered, intelligent and could speak and write good English. To find ample justification for this estimate, she had but to compare herself with other girls in the school. These for the most part were foreign-born. A large percentage were Jewesses, thick-lipped and large-nosed, with heavy black coils of hair worn over ill-disguised "rats." Jeannette detected a finer type, but even to these exceptions she felt herself superior. They chewed gum a great deal, and shrieked over their confidences as they ate their lunches out of cardboard boxes at the noon hour. She could not bring herself to associate with such girls, and forestalled any approach to friendliness on their part by choosing a remote corner to devote the leisure minutes to study. In consequence she became the butt of much of their silly laughter, and though she winced at these whisperings and jibes, she never betrayed annoyance. There was a sprinkling of men and boys throughout the school, but the male element was made up of middle-aged dullards and pimply-necked raw youths, none of whom interested her.

The weeks fled by, and Jeannette was carried along on an undiminished wave of excitement. Everything she coveted most in the world depended upon her winning a diploma from the school at the end of the 10 weeks' instruction. She discovered soon after her enrollment that while this might be physically possible, it was rarely accomplished, and most of her fellow students had been attending the school for months. A diploma represented to her the measure of success, and as the time grew shorter before she was to take the final examinations, she could hardly sleep from the intensity of her emotions.

At home, matters had materially improved. The epidemic was over; Miss Loughborough's school had reopened its doors, and Mrs. Sturgis was again beginning to fill her Wednesdays and Saturdays with lessons. But the problem of finances was still unsolved. There was a loan of $500 now on the insurance policy, and Jeannette foresaw her mother would not cease to fret and worry over that until it had somehow been paid back. Everything, it seemed to her, depended on her success at school. There was no hope for the little family otherwise. Alice—trusting, complacent little Alice—was not the type who could shoulder any of the burden; her mother was perceptibly not as strong as she had been. There would always be debts, there would always be worry, there would always be skimping and self-denial, unless she, Jeannette, got a job and went to work.

Wearily with fatigue, she would drive herself at her practice on the rented typewriter in the studio every evening until her back flamed with fire and her fingertips grew sore. She made Alice read aloud to her while she filled page after page in her notebook with her hooks and dashes, until her sister drooped with sleep. Mrs. Sturgis protested, actually cried a little. The child was killing herself to no purpose! There wasn't any sense in working so hard! She was wasting her time, and it would end by their having a doctor!

Jeannette shook her head and held her peace, but when the reward came and old Roger Mason, who had been principal of the school for nearly 20 years, sent for her and told her he wanted to congratulate her on the excellent showing she had made, she felt amply compensated. But none of those who eagerly congratulated her—not even her mother nor Alice—suspected how infinitely harder than mastering her lessons had been what she had endured from the jeering, mimicking girls who had made fun of her through the dreadful 10 weeks.

But that was all behind her now. She could forget it. She had justified herself, and stood ready to prove to her mother and sister that she could now fill a position as a regular stenographer, could hold it, and moreover bring them material help. She was all eagerness to begin—frightened at the prospect, yet confident of success.

THE SPRING MAID OF 1924

By MARGUERITE MARTIN.

THE Spring Maid of 1924 is distinguished in her habiliments from her predecessor of 1923 by a number of features. One is the multicolored scarf she wears floating from about her neck, her hat or waistline.

We've been hearing of and seeing the Deauville scarf for a season or two, but it and its variations did not descend upon us in all its glory here in St. Louis until this Easter week. As it is, every other girl you meet is sporting a scarf of stripes, printed pattern, or plain but vividly dyed stuff, silk chiffon or knitted fabric of silk or wool. Sometimes the neckerchief matches the scarf would merely repeat a note of color employed elsewhere in the costume or sets it off in contrasting hue.

Then there is the swagger stick. A few mannequins flourished a walking stick this time last year, and in itself—though modest in color and design—it was regarded as a bold affectation inviting amused comment. Now it appears to be a necessary part of the equipment of her who would be in style. Though she is neither halt nor blind, she cannot venture forth, calling herself fully clad, without her stick. Nor is it just a plaything for idle hands, for in the business area, downtown, one observes the young woman wage earner emerging from the street car or bus with a walking stick added to the other clattering paraphernalia of handbag, vanity case, library book and possibly a lunch box.

the demand—or fomenting it, as the case may be—provide the sticks in every color and shade, orange, green, red, purple, white—and the Spring Maid chooses one which repeats some note or contrasts with the color scheme of her costume.

Another distinctive accent in the season's fads is the trimly tailored suit worn with soft shirt and collar, four-in-hand tie and waistcoat. Whether it spells doom to the popularity of the graceful and convenient one-piece frock remains to be seen. It may be just a concession in timeliness to the cool weather of the tardy spring, or it may, with its high-buttoned lapelled coat, be the first expression of the Directorate mode which the fashion journals have been predicting. It may vanish when a little later the one-piece frock emerges from beneath the top-coat. There are many coats: most elaborate ones, collared and edged with fur, bordered with harmonizing stripes, braided and embroidered in fantastic designs, but it must be admitted that they do not stand out with the jauntiness and snappiness of the tailored suit of mannish materials and boyish cut. They look rather floppy in the brisk breezes where the suit looks trip and ship-shape.

A few one-piece gowns, worn with great fluffy collars of fox, bleached and then dyed in the most delicate tones—peach blow, fawn, dove gray, cocoa—are appearing at dressier social gatherings.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

Invert the Can.

Before using paint, turn the can upside down for a few days. Then open and you will find the paint will be mixed more thoroughly.

Banish the Family Group.

Do not spoil the appearance of your living room by keeping all the family portraits on view. They are no longer popular. Subjects of the few pictures hung should be of general interest and should be artistically chosen.

A Peep Into the Future.

After the room is freshly papered take a piece of left-over wall paper and tack it up in the attic or storeroom, so if in the future a patch is needed you will have a piece that has been exposed to light and is the same color as the paper of the room.

Wholesale Cleaning.

The table silver can be cleaned rapidly and with practically no effort if placed for a few minutes in a solution made by pouring a quart of boiling water on one teaspoonful of baking soda in a large aluminum pan. Rinse with clear boiling water and dry.

TAPIOCA CREAM SOUP.

Melt slowly a pint of the good chicken broth, then add a tablespoonful of crushed tapioca and cook it until it is quite clear. Beat the yolks of two fresh eggs and add them to a pint of light cream. Season the mixture and turn into the hot broth. Keep it hot, but do not let it boil for more than three minutes, then the soup will be ready to serve. If it boils, the eggs will curdle, so watch the soup carefully. This makes a dainty and very nourishing soup.

HOME-MAKING HELPS

"Everything About the House Helps to Make the Home"

By WANDA BARTON

Solving Some Summer-Comfort Porch Problems

Light and prosperity travel in hand. The owner of a home uses his paint brush if he is wise, to save expense and further the life of the property. Women are the spirit also and are their furniture in most of their fashion.

Water or with paint remover if the color scheme is to be changed. Then, as soon as they are dry, the artist may go ahead. Porch colorings should follow in tone the color of the house walls that surround the porch. If they are brown the gamut may be run from tans to orange colorings. If the walls are gray or soft green, blues and greens may be used. If white is our background, a black and white scheme may be worked out with the furniture. Cushions will furnish the color needed and the porch may be shaded by the rusty red of Venetian sail-cloth awnings.

Water-proof leather is among the materials being used for porch cushions. These cushions may be had in old blue, soft willow green, rusty red—which is called "tile" color this season—gray, brown, tan and black. The pillows come in square, rectangular and round medallion in the center. The edges are seamed, puffed and in some cases fringed in short lengths. Standard and table lamps of wicker are part of the porch outfitting and are, of course, painted to match the lining of the shades being of wash silk. Extremists in coloring or painting are buying fabric porch rugs and painting them to suit the color scheme. A paint concealer especially for the purpose. The tea-wagon has become a necessity and is built and decorated as befits each family's needs. Some have electric attachments ready to plug in to set the kettle or urn boiling in short order for coffee or tea or to heat a grill for a quick bite.

The wise woman will have a porch wall chest that is weather-proof and fitted with a good lock built along the wall under the windows. In this, all pillows and perishables may be stowed at night instead of taking them indoors and cluttering the hall with them. The chances of their being stolen are probably remote if the house is well back from the street or in a real country place.

Something for Nothing

By SOPHIE IRENE LOEB

A FRIEND of mine whom I might well term Dr. Trouble, because everybody seems to take their difficulties to him, was asked the other day how he was able to do so many things for so many people without any pay from those he helped.

For he seems always to be getting something for nothing. But does he get the something for nothing? He smiled a sad smile when asked this question, saying: "Does anybody feel that he ever gets something for nothing?"

"When I secure a job for a friend of mine or adjust some money matters for him or aid him to get some backing or say a good word to give him the boost that he needs at the time he needs it most—for every one of these things I pay, and sometimes with usurious interest."

"To every one of these people to whom I am indebted for the favor they have rendered to my friend, I am expected when the time comes to respond in return for what they have done for me."

Thus it happens that this particular man goes to places, sees people and does many things at great sacrifice to his personal interests, to say nothing of his health, in order to repay those who have done things to help his friends. And somehow or other it is in the very weave of this man to do kind acts and kind deeds. But he bestows in return service all the time for that which has been rendered.

He certainly gives something for nothing all the time, but he doesn't get something for nothing. I often wonder whether the people who are constantly asking favors and begging people to set them right or help straighten up their backbones ever realize that the person to whom they are indebted must in turn pay for what has been done for them?

It seems to the one asking the help that it is so easy for the friend because he has influence or means of reaching other people, etc.—and often he wonders why one should hesitate. The one seeking aid little realizes to what difficulties and obligations he will put the man to whom he is making the appeal.

No, my good friends, you do not get something for nothing. Somebody has to pay for it, some way, somehow. A good friend doesn't want any return or any undue thanks for any kindness he has shown you. He is glad to be able to do it. His recompense comes from the knowledge that he has been instrumental in giving ear and answering a friend.

But it is worth while for those who are constantly asking others to bear their burdens and lift their cares from their own shoulders to stop and reason whether they cannot in some way accomplish the purpose themselves.

Many a person becomes a parasite without really knowing it because it is so easy for him to go to some friend to help him out of his difficulty that he gets the habit of doing it; and instead of working out his own salvation he chooses the easiest way out.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By ALINE MICHAELIS.

The Cynic.

A CYNIC walked abroad one day when Spring was in the land; all earth and air were glad and gay, birds sang on every hand. The cynic sneered, where sun and shadow lay. The birds still frolicked to the lark's refrain upon the sun-bright hills. The brook still bubbled as it went upon its laughing way: the South wind, passing, breathed content where sun and shadow lay. The cynic, glaring left and right, upon his errand strode, where dogwood petals, creamy-white, lay drifted on the road. "This Earth," quoth he, "is full of care, man's heart is sore oppressed." The clovers' fragrance filled the air, the robin built her nest. "Life's always dreary, dull and sad, it grants no brief respite from contentment where sun and shadow lay. The cynic frowned, and hastened on: "Like men blind fools!" he said, "whose song and sweetness will be gone long ere the year is sped." The heedless robin warbled still his notes of joy and love, and still the dancing daffodil made merry in the grove. The cynic's scowl was dark as night, his look was harsh and grim, for all the world with blossoms bright seemed but to mock at him. And so in haughty haste he went to hide himself away, for cynic's moods were never meant to match an April day.

Farmer Brown's Boy and Jimmy Skunk Breakfast Together

—Farmer Brown's Boy.

FARMER BROWN'S BOY sighed with relief. He had hoped that Jimmy Skunk had not forgotten him and still regarded him as a friend. But he hadn't been sure. He had been a little afraid that during the long winter Jimmy Skunk might have forgotten him. But now he knew that Jimmy was entirely friendly, and it took a great load off his mind. You see, if Jimmy was unfriendly they couldn't remain together in the sugar house. One or the other would have to get out.

Now Farmer Brown's Boy understands Jimmy Skunk. He knows that Jimmy is the most independent little fellow in the world. He knows that if no one interferes with Jimmy, Jimmy will interfere with no one.

"All I need do is to be careful not to frighten Jimmy or in any way make him think that I intend him any harm," thought Farmer Brown's Boy. "I think I'll invite him to breakfast. If we breakfast together I am sure we will be friends for all time."

So, moving about unburdened, Farmer Brown's Boy cooked his breakfast. At first Jimmy Skunk paid no attention to what Farmer Brown's Boy was doing. But when the delicious smell of frying bacon filled the little sugar house Jimmy began to take a very lively interest. Farmer Brown's Boy finished frying the bacon. Then he fried some eggs. One of the eggs and some little pieces of bacon he put on a plate and set it on the floor beside his own seat.

Jimmy Skunk is a gentleman. He was hungry, very hungry, indeed. But he didn't gobble up that food. He ate it as a gentleman should. When he had licked up the last bit of egg and his plate was quite clean he was still hungry. He looked up at Farmer Brown's Boy. Then he stamped breakfast," said Farmer Brown's Boy.

"Who?" asked Farmer Brown. "Jimmy Skunk," replied Farmer Brown's Boy.

"Good land!" exclaimed Farmer Brown. "Where is he now?" he asked, looking about anxiously.

"Under that bunk fast asleep," replied Farmer Brown's Boy. Farmer Brown began to back hastily towards the open door.

He has a Daniel Webster brain.

FAVORITE STORIES

By Irvin S. Cobb.

GERMAN CAPTIVE PETS.
A GERMAN composer of distinction, lately landed, was visiting an American song writer at the latter's country place. He manifested much interest in various typically American domestic appliances and household conveniences. What particularly caught his attention was a sleeping porch, screened in. In broken English he asked his host the purpose of the screens.
"Why, to keep flies out in the summer time," said the Yankee.
Still the visitor seemed perplexed.
"You have flies in Berlin, don't you?" asked the American.
"Sure—millions of dem," said the German, with true Teutonic pride in the products of his native land.
"Well, what do you do at your house to keep the flies out?"
"We don't haf to keep dem out," explained the foreigner. "Dey already are in."

AN EASY JOB FOR AN EXPERT.
A DISGRUNTLED performer walked into the office of E. F. Albee, the vaudeville magnate.
"Look here, Mr. Albee," he began. "I've got a kick to make against two guys that are now playing in your theaters."
"State the kick," said Mr. Albee.
"Well, you may not know it, but I'm the best magician in the country. I'm an originator; I'm a genius. I think up all my own tricks and nobody else can equal them. And now, along come these two fellows and swipe some of my best stunts and go to using 'em on the Big Time. Now then, what am I going to do about that?"
"Let 'em see," said Albee. "You're a magician, you say?"
"The best in the world."
"Well, how are you at vanishing illusions?"
"I haven't got an equal anywhere."
"Well, then," suggested Albee, "why don't you make those other two fellows disappear?"

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, April 23.—Charles F. Murphy, for 29 years leader of Tammany Hall, died unexpectedly at 9:30 o'clock this morning at his residence at 305 East Seventeenth street, at the age of 66.
Acute indigestion was the cause of death.
Murphy succeeded the late Richard Croker as chieftain of the country's most famous political organization. He was a native New Yorker, having been born here
June 20, 1858.
Murphy appeared in excellent health last night, according to his secretary, Daniel J. Ryan. He covered with political associates at Tammany Hall, ate a hearty dinner and retired at the usual early hour.

Household Servants
Household servants related that the Tammany leader complained of suffering chills when he arose at 1 o'clock this morning, as was his custom. At 2:10 he breakfasted and almost immediately afterward became ill of indigestion. He also complained of pressure over the heart.
Murphy's valet summoned Dr. J.
E. Herrity, who lived near by; Father Lawrence A. Hogan of the Roman Catholic Church of the Epiphany, Murphy's daughter, Mrs. James A. Foley and her husband, Surgeon Foley.
A glance convinced the physician that the patient's heart had been stricken, that he was in great pain and near death. He gave an hypodermic stimulant and put to bed. Ten minutes later he died, with the priest, Surgeon and Mrs. Foley, Dr. Herrity and the nurses at his bedside. He remained conscious up to the last moment.

The Tammany leader, always hardy, remained so up until the time of his death. When found in the bathroom in agony, the man's greatest concern seemed to be one of surprise that he should suffer from indigestion and imagine that his heart should have been affected. He did not suspect his illness was fatal.

Mrs. Murphy was at Atlantic City when Mrs. Foley wired her that Murphy was very ill.

Directed Campaign of Smith.
The death of Murphy came at a time when he was actively engaged in promoting the campaign of his old friend, Gov. Alfred E. Smith, for the Democratic nomination for the presidency.

The chieftain had a warm personal regard for the Governor, who also has been prominent in the inner affairs of Tammany for many years. Tammany members recalled today Murphy's pride in the Governor for his sweeping victory in the polls two years ago, and the dramatic scene in the "Wigwam" fourteenth street, when the leader joyfully slapped the Governor on the back amid the greatest demonstration the famous hall had ever known.

Murphy, according to his close associates, had been making elaborate plans for furthering the Governor's candidacy for the presidency.
